SENATE FEARS U. S. 'DUPED' IN PARIS

Hughes Breaks Precedent by Official Statement to Deny Charges

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Aroused by the tempest in the Senate over the reparations agreement signed at Paris by Secretary of State-Designate Kellogg and the charges that the United States had been "duped" there, Secretary of State Hughes broke a precedent here today by issuing an official statement concerning the agreement, in which he denied that the United States is "legally or morally" obligated to help the allied powers collect war damages from Germany.

Hughes' statement was issued in the face of a gathering revolt on the part of the old Senate irreconcilables against the Paris agreement, and an anticipated "demand" from the Senate for full information. His statement follows:

"The portion of the agreement reached at the recent conference in Paris which relates to the participation of the United States in the Dawes annuities has already been published in the newspapers. The full text of the agreement is on its way to this country and will be published as soon as received. In the meantime it may be said:

"1 The conference of finance ministers held at Paris was for the purpose of reaching an agreement as to the allocation of the payments expected through the operation of the Dawes plan. In view of the inclusive character of these payments, it was necessary for the United States to take part in the conference in order to protect its interests.

"2 The conference at Paris was not a body, agency or commission provided for either by our treaty with Germany or by the treaty of Versailles. In taking part in this conference there was no violation of the reservation attached by the Senate to the treaty in Berlin.

"3 The agreement reached at Paris was simply for the allocation of the payments made under the Dawes plan. It does not provide for sanction or deal with any emergency that might arise if the contemplated payments should not be made. With respect to any such contingencies, the agreement at Paris puts the United States under no obligation legally or morally, and the United States will be as free as it ever was to take any course of action it may think advisable.

"4 The agreement at Paris neither surrenders or modifies any treaty rights of the United States."

The second paragraph of the statement was in reference to the charges that in designating American delegates to attend the Paris conference, the state department had violated the mandate of the Senate of two years ago when it was stipulated that the executive should not send official American representatives to any European conferences having to do with the Versailles treaty without the express sanction of the Senate.

L. A. Senator Insists Cops Slighted Him

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—Senator Harry Chamberlain of Los Angeles feels slighted, he informed his colleagues of the Senate today, because the motor speed cop who arrested Senators A. H. Breed and Sanborn Young last week overlooked Senator Chamberlain, who was at the wheel.

"The fault was all mine," quoth the Los Angeles solon. "It was I who drove the car, and Mr. Breed and Mr. Young were not in any way to blame." He averred, if any one of the three was to be punished, it should be he. Furthermore, it developed that the car he was driving, and doing his 51 miles per hour in, as the speed cop declares, was the property of Frank Newbert, president of the fish and game commission.

UNCOVER PLOT TO DESTROY WARSHIP

Five Men and One Woman Arrested In England; Intercept Letters

LONDON, Jan. 19.—A plot to blow up a British battleship at Portsmouth, England's chief naval base, was alleged today by police with the arrest of five men and one woman.

The Evening News today said that the alleged plot contemplated the blowing up of several English warships. Two men detained are petty officers, it is said. The News declared that Irish extremists were responsible for the alleged plot and that their hope was to provoke trouble between England and the Irish Free State.

The woman under arrest was mentioned in several letters, according to the police. An official statement issued by Scotland Yard said that six arrests had been made under the "official secrets" act. The statement said that those under arrest were connected with the Irish Republican organization. Two of the men in custody are said to have naval ranking. The other three are reported to be Irish.

Intercept Letters

The arrests resulted from reports that government naval secrets were leaking out of Portsmouth. Police for some time have been ,it was said, intercepting letters passing between reputed Irish Republicans and residents of London and Portsmouth.

Twenty-four police officers took part in the raids which netted the six persons. The raids covered a large area of London as well as Portsmouth.

KILLED BY ROBBERS

MANSFIELD, Ill., Jan. 19.—Frank Hilligos, 48, night marshal of Mansfield, was shot to death by bank robbers who early today broke into the Mansfield State bank and escaped with $1500.

BATTLES LOOM IN CLOSING SESSIONS

Six Hot Debates Over Issues Of State-Wide Interest Seen In Assembly

BULLETIN

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—Reports were current in the capital today that Governor Richardson is considering the appointment of a neutral board to investigate the Owens valley-Los Angeles water controversy and propose a compromise with a view to effecting a settlement of the long standing dispute.

Special to The Evening News.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—Entering its third week the California Legislature gives promise of three results:

1. Less legislation, with fewer bills introduced and more scrutiny of those passed out of committees.

2. A general investigation of present budgetary appropriations and those not budgeted, as well as an investigation into revenues and expenditures with a view to tax revision.

3. No less than six hot debates over issues of statewide interest.

To date the Assembly is lagging behind in its customary deluge of bills and in the Senate there is an indication of a letup, which will permit the solons to take their thirty day legislative recess January 24, as scheduled.

Investigate Budget

The investigation of budgetary appropriations, it is hinted, will come in the Senate finance committee when it considers several deficiency appropriations. A special committee in the Assembly, over which Frank Coombs will preside, is to look into the revenue situation with a view to increasing taxation sources to meet state needs. His comm tee of five is controlled by three administration members, named by Speaker Frank Merriam.

Principal among the fights to develop into lengthy debates and the causes of argument, follow:

1. Constitutional amendment proposed by Assemblyman S. C. Hartranft to include publicly owned utilities with utility corporations now paying state taxes amounting to 7 per cent of their gross revenues. San Francisco and Los Angeles municipal ownership factions already have announced war on this scheme, declaring it to be an attack on public ownership.

On Reapportionment

2. Constitutional amendment sponsored by the California Farm Bureau federation providing for reapportionment on the 5-3 basis, in the Senate, which would give the "cow" counties twenty-five senators and leave fifteen for Los Angeles, Alameda (Oakland), and San Francisco counties to divide, according to population, not more than four districts to be allotted any city. This would seriously affect the voting power of Los Angeles, with more than 1,250,000 population, as compared with San Francisco, which also complains because it would be limited to four senators. Los Angeles county, however, would likely get seven senators to the two bay counties eight in 1931. The amendment would not change the present policy of redistricting assembly districts in strict accord with population, as of the 1920 census.

3. With the backing of the State Supervisors' association, which last week overwhelmingly voted for a one per cent increase in the gasoline tax, over Los Angeles' protests, Senator Arthur H. Breed announced today he would submit a bill to that effect, disregarding any recommendation of the California Highway Committee of Nine, of which he was chairman. The committee could not agree on several issues, but its report on the highway situation will afford good fodder for attack, it is believed by those close to the committee.

Increase Salaries

4. Increases in judicial salaries, a power given to the Legislature last November by the constitutional amendment which created municipal courts, also are going to be fought on the flo r next March, according to non-lawyer members of the Legislature, who have noted several bills already authorizing greater pay for supreme, appellate and superior court jurists.

5. Highway financing, hinging more or less on the gasoline tax issue, also is to be threshed out, Harvey Toy, chairman of the California Highway commission, summing it up as follows:

"If new roads are to be built the Legislature will have to pro-

Nominations In Order For City Councilmen! Make Your Selections!

Nominations of candidates for the Glendale City Council are being made by readers of The Glendale Evening News, following the announcement by this newspaper on Saturday that it would receive suggestions for councilmanic timber.

As was stated in The Glendale Evening News on Saturday, nominations will be published in this newspaper. When a person nominated has received at least fifty nominations, this newspaper will then publish his or her picture and a brief biography. Names of persons making the nominations will NOT be published, although the nominations MUST be signed, as an evidence of good faith.

There are a large number of men and women in Glendale with time and ability to devote to service on the City Council. YOU know many of them. Nominate them for office. It is required that you use the nominations form appearing in The Glendale Evening News each day. Five nominations is the limit any one person is permitted to make. Names of all persons nominated will be published. And, remember, when a person nominated receives at least fifty nominations, his or her picture and brief biography will appear in The Glendale Evening News.

The primary election law of California provides that city and county elections shall be non-partisan, meaning that a candidate's political affiliation shall NOT be considered when voters question fitness for office. Therefore, voters of Glendale have the opportunity of nominating the BEST men —or women—for City Council, irrespective of party affiliations or the wish of self-appointed political bosses.

The nomination blank appears on page 1 of today's Glendale Evening News. Make use of it at once and mail it to Nomination Editor, The Glendale Evening News, 139 South Brand, Glendale, California.

LEGAL BATTLE IS WON BY MRS. HART

Wife of Famous Two-Gun Movie Man Given Right To Work on Screen

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—Mrs. Winifred Westover Hart, wife of William S. Hart, film actor, today won her fight in Los Angeles courts to resume her work as a motion picture actress under the name of Mrs. William S. Hart.

Following arguments in Mrs. Hart's suit to abrogate a portion of her contract with her husband, Judge Stephens ruled that Mrs. Hart had the right to re-enter motion picture work, despite the contract which would disbar her.

The arguments covered the legal points brought out in the testimony taken last week and in which the circumstances surrounding the separation agreement between the pair were related by both Hart and his wife.

Under the agreement, Hart provided a $100,000 fund for the wife and $103,000 for his son, who had not been born at the time the agreement was reached. Mrs. Hart was to receive the income from her fund, provided she did not allow herself to be photographed for the screen or for advertising purposes using the name of Hart.

Outpost Opens Here For Savation Army

The Glendale outpost of the Salvation Army opened Saturday night to a capacity house at 124 West Wilson avenue. There were fully 500 people in attendance, according to an estimate of Adjutant J. G. Barry, commanding officer of No. 2 corps, who was in charge.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds delivered a stirring address. Colonel and Mrs. Boyd gave special talks. The thirty-five-piece Salvation Army band, led by Bandmaster Harold Gooding, furnished excellent music. This is the radio band that broadcasts over KJS. Chief John D. Fraser of the Glendale police department announced that special provision has been made to hold open-air meetings.

Old Ford Owners Hit By Equipment Demand

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—The ukase of the state motor vehicle department to owners of old Ford cars that they must equip them with new batteries before a license will be issued, became a subject of legislative investigation today. In the Senate Senator J. M. Ingram of Sacramento voiced the protests of car owners against this ruling of Will H. Marsh, declaring many farmers who used old Fords to run about on their farms in, must spend $150 per car to meet the demands of the motor vehicle department.

Paralytic Stroke Hits Autoist While Driving

Harry Shaeffer of 704 East Maple avenue, age 63, suffered a stroke of paralysis at 11:30 o'clock this morning while driving his car down Glendale avenue near Maple avenue, as he was crossing the street car tracks. He was sitting in the machine, waving for help, when Mrs. M. R. Morrow of 343 West Ivy street responded. He was taken to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harry E. Reichard of 704 East Maple avenue. Mrs. Morrow is district manager of the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

GUN ELEVATION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—A Democratic drive to force passage in the Senate of a $6,500,000 appropriation for elevating guns aboard America's first line battleships was halted this afternoon by administration forces.

DESTROYERS MOVE

MANILA, Jan. 19.—The remaining destroyers of the American 45th division were ordered to Shanghai today. The ships involved are the Hulbert, Noa, Pruett, Preston, Preble and Sicard.

TARS ARRIVE

PEKING, Jan. 19.—American sailors from the U. S. S. Penguin and Pigeon landed at Nanking today to protect American residents and the consulate, according to advices from that city in which is the center of the civil war disturbance in Kiangsu province.

GIRL SLAYER'S DEFENSE IS UNSETTLED

Public Defender and Lawyer Employed by Her Father Wrangle on Plan

BULLETIN

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—Public Defender Frank J. Egan dropped the defense of Dorothy Ellingson, mother slayer, late today when it was announced a defense fund was to be raised for the "jazz maniac."

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—Dorothy Ellingson, 16-year-old, red-headed "daughter of jazz," who murdered her mother, wept in the city prison today while lawyers wrangled over her defense.

A "tiger girl" turned to a broken flower, Dorothy hung her head so that her red bob dropped over and hid her face, and declined to become interested in her fate.

"I killed my mother and am ready to pay the price," she sobbed. "Lawyers and everybody else leave me alone—that's all I ask."

Lawyers Wrangle

Outside the women's prison ward stood Alexander Moslin, San Francisco attorney, who asserted the girl's father had employed him, and Public Defender Frank J. Egan, both claiming they had appointments to see the mother slayer.

Egan said the girl wanted him and no one else to defend her, and Moslin declared he would have charge of her defense.

With the attorneys battling as to who would prepare the girl's defense, the outstanding developments of the day were:

1. Keith Lord, Los Angeles orchestra player, was to be arraigned on a charge of contributing to the girl's delinquency.

2. Detectives probed the "jazz maniac's" age, the authorities asserting if it was found she was 18 years old, the death penalty would be demanded.

3. San Francisco police and club women united in a campaign to bring strict police supervision of "jazz palaces" and amusement places where Dorothy whetted her pleasure-loving appetite.

4. Dorothy was again to be questioned in an effort to make her confess she killed her mother, while Mrs. Ellingson's back was turned, because she had threatened to place Dorothy in a correctional institution.

Lord, the banjo player, betrayed to police as Dorothy's friend through loving entries in her little red diary, was unable to furnish bail in the sum of $20,000. In his jail cell he declared Dorothy told him she was 19 years old and "she looked and acted the part," Lord said.

Birth Certificate

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 19.—A certificate of birth on file in the vault of the city hall here shows that the Dorothy Ellingson, who shot to death her mother in San Francisco last week, was born in Minneapolis, April 1, 1908.

The record shows her father to be Joachim J. Ellingson, who was 32 years of age at the time of her birth and that his place of birth was in Norway. His occupation is given as a tailor. The mother, Anna Ellingson, was 29 years of age and her place of birth is likewise Norway. Dorothy, according to the birth certificate, will be 17 years old on her next birthday, April 1, 1925.

KNUTE ROCKNE NOT COMING TO U. S. C.

Notre Dame Coach Will Not Drill Trojans; Hunter In Charge Now

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—Athletic officials at the University of Southern California announced this afternoon that it has been found impossible to secure the services of Knute Rockne, football coach at Notre Dame university, to succeed Elmer Henderson, former coach of the Trojans.

Willis O. Hunter, assistant coach under Henderson, has been placed in temporary charge of inter-collegiate athletics at U. S. C. and will remain in that capacity until early next month, when announcement will be made as to the selection of a new head coach.

Stone Finally Gets Senate's O. K. for Bench

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—After a delay of two weeks, the Senate judiciary committee today unanimously approved the appointment of Attorney-General Harlan F. Stone to the United States supreme court. The appointment had been held up on requests of Senators Borah, Republican of Idaho, and Walsh, Democrat of Montana, who desired to investigate Stone's connection with litigation of J. P. Morgan & Co.

It was said that both Borah and Walsh were satisfied that Stone's activities were purely professional. The committee's decision assures Stone of confirmation by the Senator.

The committee, however, again postponed a decision on the appointment of Charles B. Warren as Stone's successor. A further delay was asked by Senators Borah and Walsh to permit a complete investigation of charges that Warren was connected with an illegal beet sugar trust in 1911 and with the sugar lobby scandal of 1913.

OPEN TRIAL OF MILLIONAIRE RUM RING

'Death Threat' Letter Sent To Prosecutor as Case Starts In L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—With Assistant United States Attorney Mark Herron under constant guard as the result of a "death threat" letter, the writer of which was sought today by federal officers, plans were completed for the trial tomorrow of the "millionaire rum ring" which has dragged through nearly two years of court delays and postponements.

Chief among the thirteen defendants to be tried in federal court on charges of abetting in the landing of 166 cases of liquor on the Curtis Packing Co. wharf at Long Beach on the night of March 23, 1923, is Alexander B. Stewart, reputed millionaire and head of the Curtis Co., fish packers.

The following is the letter received by Attorney Herron, head of the "bootleg" prosecutions of the United States district attorney's forces.

Mentions Torchia

"Mr. Herron: Lay off the Ace in the Hole when you try the Aleck B. Stewart booze case. He is a man and not a long hair. If you send him and these boys to the penitentiary you will be taken care of good and plenty. You know what we mean. Look at Frisco, dynamite; look at Torchia, look at Turner. Lay off the surprise or graveyard for you —watch your step. Uno Who."

The "surprise" referred to in the letter is believed to be certain testimony recently unearthed by government investigators and relied upon to cinch the case against the "rum ring," which is declared to have ramficiations along the entire Pacific coast.

THREE STATES INUNDATED, LOSS IS SEVERE

Rains Continue and Rivers Overflow Banks; Many Farms Badly Damaged

BULLETIN

WEST POINT, Ga., Jan. 19.—All guests in the only hotel in this town were marooned today on the second floor when the railroad station, occupying the same building, was flooded by the Chattahoochee river. The main street of West Point is under five feet of water.

ORANGEBURG, S. C., Jan. 19.—Waters of the Santee river were lapping the cross-ties of the Atlantic Coast line trestle near Remini, early today, according to reports brought here by train crews.

Heavy rains have been falling in this section for more than a week. Many streams are out of their banks.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 19.—Practically the entire southeast today was threatened with enormous property damage from floods rolling down the valleys after three days of constant rain. The downpour continued today.

Engineer C. L. Dunham and T. F. Foster, a yardmaster, were killed and several persons injured when a Southern railway train went through a trestle over Mulberry creek, near Selma, Ala.

Engineer V. F. Hartzell was killed and Fireman J. M. Cooper was injured when their train train struck a slide on the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad near Cartersville, Ga.

Will and Asa Tift, sons of a former mayor of Albany, Ga., are missing, and it is feared they lost their lives when they went to the Flint river near Albany to save a boat from being washed away.

The north-bound Dixie Flyer barely missed calamity last night when it stopped just before reaching a washed-out fill at Mosey creek, on the Central of Georgia railway. The washout was caused when a dam burst near Fort Valley, Ga.

Train service is demoralized. Portions of track have been abandoned and trains are being routed around the most dangerous points.

Macon reported the Ocmulgee still rising there, with the flood already beyond any previous record.

Alabama reported the Alabama river rising, with several towns partly inundated.

Town Inundated

WEST POINT, Ga., Jan. 19.—This town was practically isolated today by floodwaters of the Chattahoochee river. Enormous property damage has been caused here.

The railway station has been abandoned. Louisville & Nashville railway trains are barely creeping across the bridge here, which already is under water.

TAKES OWN LIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—Despondent because of continued ill health, George Head, 25 committed suicide today by slashing his throat with a razor.

ATWATER BAPTIST CHURCH'S SERMON

Rev. Nelson Takes As Text Jesus Bearing Cross To Calvary

At the Atwater Park Baptist church, Sunday night, the pastor, Rev. M. Grant Nelson, took for his subject, "Bearing the Cross for Jesus." His text was John 19:17 and Matthew 27:32, "And he bearing his cross went forth, and as they came out, they found a man Cyrene, Simon by name: him they compelled to bear his cross." He continued:

"Some critics have thought they had found a serious discrepancy in the gospel records because John tells us that Jesus went forth to Calvary bearing His cross, while the other writers say that Simon was compelled to bear it. The words of Dr. Wm. Smith in his 'History of the Bible' make the matter perfectly clear. 'One ignominious feature,' says Dr. Smith, 'of crucifixion, the criminal's carrying his own cross to the place of execution, was not omitted in the case of Jesus, as we learn from St. John; but the other three evangelists state that the soldiers laid the burden upon Simon, a Cyrenian, who happened to be coming into Jerusalem from the country. The obvious reconciliation is that so often presented to the eye by great painters, that our Saviour, exhausted by His previous agony, sunk beneath the weight, which no one else would defile himself by lifting. The enforced service seems to have brought upon Simon the blessing pronounced by Christ on those who, in a spiritual sense, take up the cross and follow him."

Present Need

"We of the twentieth century need to be reminded that Jesus today is going forth bearing his cross to Calvary, and it is our privilege to help him carry its crushing weight. I hear Paul saying something about being crucified with Christ, and of dying daily. Perhaps he caught the vision of the privilege of cross bearing for Jesus in this continual and deeper sense.

"We may help Jesus bear His cross by personal devotion and loyalty. The writer of the epistle to the Hebrews shows us how by our disloyalty to the blood of the covenant we may crucify the Son of God afresh and put Him to open shame. 'Dear to the heart of God,' are His people, for He has redeemed them at tremendous cost. One of the comforting thoughts that eased the ache in my heart as I stood beside the casket which held the cold form of my beloved mother, was the knowledge that I had never added to her heart burdens by being wayward. Is your unfaithfulness adding weight to that crushing load Jesus is carrying for you, my friend?

Renewing Covenant

"We may bear the cross for Jesus by renewing our covenant today if we have wandered away from God. I hear Him talking about joy in heaven when one sinner returns. What a load went from the bursting heart of that parent who saw his boy coming home from his wanderings, 'while yet a great way off.' Forget the rags, forgive the wasting, overlook the blight. 'It is meet that we should make merry and be glad, for this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found.'

"We may bear the cross for Jesus by seeking the lost and wayward ones. 'But none of the ransomed ever knew how deep were the waters crossed, or how dark the night which the Lord passed through e'er he found his sheep that was lost.' The record declares that he went until he found it. And perhaps you and I have let him go alone.

"I heard the other day of a pastor in the middle west who asked his people to select some Bible character, other than Jesus, whose place they would prefer to have filled, with the reason for the selection. At the service each named his person selected. One chose Abraham, because he was called the friend of God. Another selected Daniel, the example of loyalty. Peter and Paul were chosen. An elderly brother had listened in silence. When urged by his pastor to state his choice he said, 'I would not choose to have been Abraham, nor Daniel, nor even Paul. I would prefer to have been Simon of Cyrene, for he carried the cross for Jesus.'"

MRS. MOORE GIVES OCCULT LECTURES

Scientist Opens Series Of Talks On 'Science Of Living Gracefully'

"The Science of Living Gracefully" was the subject of the sermon delivered last night by Rev. Mabel Moore at the Occult Science of Christ Church, 113 South Orange street. Rev. Mrs. Moore derived her text from Romans 1:5. This sermon was the first of a series of four on "The Science of Living." She said:

"As we look out upon the field of nature with an observing eye, upon the simple but beautiful life of animal, plant and tree, there seems to be within and about it all a certain grace, an expression of grace and harmony that our more complex but less beautiful lives seem always to have lacked. It has always been my belief that our Divine Creator, the Life that has given us being, intended us to manifest the same grace in our lives that has lent to the lower kingdoms their undoubted beauty and charm.

"Now, the grace of which we are speaking is not of body, physical grace, it is grace and harmony of mind and life, and to achieve it we must incorporate into our lives the essentials of its nature. Now as we analyze the graceful life, we see that there are three qualities whose place in one's life will destroy and defeat all human grace or harmony. These are Anger, Jealousy, and Worry. These qualities or attitudes of mind are inimical to all human grace, beauty of life, or harmony. Consequently, the first step in living the graceful life is to ascertain the opposites of these destructive qualities and seek to build them into the fabric of our lives. Poise, Love and Faith are the three virtues that will do more than any others to bring out the latent grace in one's life and thought.

Poise and Anger

"Poise is the opposite of Anger, and it permeates the life of the one who possesses it with a calm uncertainty and efficiency that go to make him and his life objects of grace and genuine beauty. Poise comes from the harmonious co-operation of Spirit, Mind and Body, and it is the reflection in life of a calm and confident mind. Love is "the fulfilling of the Law" and without it no life can be graceful in the broader sense. Love is the most potent and dynamic force in the world, and its regenerative power is almost infinite. It adds a motive to all effort, and it serves to render a life graceful in a way and a manner that no other virtue can supply. Love is the one quality that gives a divine touch to all things human, and the seeker of harmony cannot pass it by if he is in earnest in his search.

"Faith is the complement of Love; it is Love in action, and it seems to have the potency of Love, for Love is at its base. Faith in Self, Faith in Others, and Faith in Life, will transform any life from ugliness to beauty, from inharmony to grace. This trinity of Faith, in Self, in Others, and in Life, is the trinity of progress and personal expansion and unfoldment; it is the instrument that the aspirant is to use in his great divine Task of treading the Mystic Way. And we see that the Graceful Life is not one to be acquired, but rather one to be unfolded from within. Divine Grace and Harmony are within us and we must seek to unfold them and manifest them in our lives. The keys that unlock the doors to our inner Sanctuary are Poise, Love, and Faith, and as we apply them in life we shall find that our lives shall grow in Grace, and we shall come to see in ourselves the same Harmony and Ease that we have so often admired in the simple but splendid lives of plant, animal and tree."

'PRAYER' IS TOPIC OF PASTOR'S TALK

Greatest Force For Good In World Rev. Kline Tells Parishioners

Rev. Leo C. Kline, pastor of the Central avenue Methodist church spoke yesterday morning from the text James 5:16 "The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much," saying:

"Prayer is the greatest force for good in the world today. In planning a great evangelistic effort such as that proposed for our city it is well to remember that without effectual, fervent prayer but little, if any good will be accomplished.

"What is effectual prayer? That which gets the thing done. What is fervent prayer? That which is earnest, insistent and not to be denied. Who can pray this sort of prayer? The word says, a righteous man. David said 'If I regard iniquity in my heart the Lord will not hear me. What is then needed on our part is self-examination, confession of all known sin and a great faith in God. This reveals that we are in earnest, makes us fit channels for the operation of the Holy spirit as a means of blessing to others.

'SOCIAL OPTIMISM' TOPIC OF PASTOR

Rev. Calderwood States This Comes With Faith In Jesus' Salvation

"Social Optimism Through Faith in Jesus," was the subject of the sermon at the Congregational church yesterday morning by Rev. C. M. Calderwood. He said:

"The deity of Christ is not a matter of widespread interest among those who are working arduously for a better world. Many modern men say that they are not interested in the deity of Christ as a metaphysical question. Even among theologians the phrase is used simply as a shibboleth to pound men into orthodoxy.

"But suppose we take the matter of the deity of Jesus Christ out of the realm of metaphysical speculation and put it into the realm of religion. Let us do this by asking the question, do you really believe that Jesus is able to save this world or was he sent here only to condemn the world? Christ came not 'to condemn the world but that the world through Him might be saved.' Christ's world program was not rescue, but salvation. Jesus rescued a few people but He has saved millions. He does not want the world to go to hell in order that He may rescue it. Some people think that society is hopeless even for Jesus and that God must destroy society before Jesus can establish a new social order. This is a denial of the power and the divinity of Jesus.

Saving of World

"Jesus nowhere teaches that the world is to be saved by destruction, but that it is to be saved by a transformation into the Kingdom of God. The idea of world destruction before world redemption is blasphemy of the good name of God. If we do not believe that Jesus is able to save the world by the leavening power of His gospel, which is His life and teaching and sacrifice, it is idle for us to talk of the deity of Christ.

God sent Jesus into the world to save it. Why should so many be so infidel as to want it to be damned in order that we may have a dramatic rescue by Jesus. 'The Kingdom of God cometh not by observation.' Many people believe in the rescuing power of Jesus. They have no confidence in His power beyond that. For them, society is hopeless, even for Jesus. God must first destroy society before Jesus can establish a new order. This is not a Christian but an apocalyptic idea. To hold this idea is to doubt the deity of Jesus.

"The great force of the world is not brute force, but spiritual power. Mind is superior to matter. It has been so with individuals and with society and it is true with the world. A new world, a new social order comes with a new birth of spiritual values. Then why talk about world disaster as a necessity for the appearance of Christ?

Christ Bears Peace

"Christ does not come on the wings of evil, but bearing peace, joy and righteousness. World salvation does not come by world catastrophy, but by world regeneration. The only salvation possible is a spiritual regeneration. This is the heart of the gospel. It is necessary for individuals and it is necessary for society.

"If a man believes that the gospel of Jesus is capable of producing this spiritual change in human affairs, he has effectively stated his belief not only in God, but in God personally revealed in Jesus. He may be confused about the metaphysics and formulas drawn up by men ages ago, but he trusts in the spiritual power of Jesus.

"This is the sort of evangelism that the world needs—a supreme confidence in Jesus as the one through whom God is actually at work in the world. Let us show our faith in Jesus Christ not by shouting formulas about his deity, but by a trust in His redeeming and regenerating power and by following His program of social salvation."

"Are Your Prayers Answered?" was the subject of the sermon delivered yesterday morning at the Pacific Avenue Methodist church by Rev. H. C. Mullen. The subject for the evening service was "The Major Task of the Church."

MISSIONARY TASK GRAND VIEW TALK

Rev. Thomas Tells Society Of Beginning Of Faith By Mediterranean

"Once before all the great peoples of the earth were gathered about a central sea, the Mediterranean. They had arrived at an impassable crisis, an impossible situation, an unsolvable problem," was the opening statement in the sermon delivered last night at the Grand View Community church by Rev. George W. Thomas, to members of the Women's Missionary society.

"Into that crisis," he continued, "came the first Missionary society, the church of Jesus Christ. Into that situation came the Apostle Paul with the great commission. Into that problem came the blessed solvent of the gospel of the Prince of Peace.

"The crisis was masterfully met. The situation became a God given opportunity. The problem was solved. Humanity went onward. That was the day that brought the white man his opportunity of world leadership. Fifteen hundred years brought him and his world to another impossible situation. The reformation and the discovery of America gave him a way out, a new central sea, the Atlantic Ocean, a new world for expansion of all the nations.

Humanity Goes On

"Again humanity went onward through the impetus of the rediscovered gospel and the providence of God. Another five hundred years have passed and now the races of mankind are again grouped about a central sea, the mighty Pacific ocean. It is no longer nations but races and the radio and airship and steamship and railway have made this mightiest of seas so small that the races are crowded, colors clash, ideals and religions and customs are in a death grapple.

"The destiny of mankind sways in the balance. An impassable crisis, an impossible situation an unsolvable problem. It is possible that the great apostle never understood how great was the issue that hinged on his work. But we today must understand and our leaders do understand how much hinges on ours. The destiny of mankind hangs on the success of the Missionary statesmanship of the church of Jesus Christ, for only Christ can open the way onward and teach the nations to live together.

CHRIST'S LAW IS TEXT FOR SERMON

Lutheran's Pastor Tells Of Greatest Commandment Of Lord's Ten

Rev. Henry O. Kringel, pastor of the Zion Lutheran church spoke yesterday morning on "Love Is the Fulfillment of the Law." He said: "We read in the twenty-second chapter of Matthew that a lawyer once came to Christ and asked Him this question: 'Master, which is the great commandment in the law?' To this Jesus replied 'Thou shalt love the Lord, thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul, and with thy mind.' This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like unto it; 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets."

"Love of God takes the first place. Christ therefore in his answer to the lawyer's question mentions it first. He says if we would fulfill the law, we must, above all, love God with all our heart, soul and mind. God is our creator and Lord. He has given us our body and soul and preserves it.

Love of God

"All the blessings we enjoy are His gifts. But from love of God, love toward the neighbor must always follow. And it is true, my readers, nobody has this love which is the fulfillment of the ten commandments. Nobody pays the debt of love he owes to his fellowmen. We are sinners.

"We cannot, therefore, love as we ought to. For this reason we need a saviour, Jesus Christ, need His fulfillment of the Law. He has suffered and died in our stead and has merited a righteousness for us, by which if we appropriate it by faith, we can stand before God and enter into His heavenly kingdom.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Jan. 19.—Local telephone rates have been increased from 25 to 33 per cent, effective February 1. This is the news brought by a representative of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., who has been calling on consumers, explaining the increase. Residence phones will henceforth cost 50 cents more and business phones in some cases as much as $3 more, it is seen by the following schedule announced by the company:

Single business phone (desk), $12.75 per month; former rate $9.25.

Two party business phone, $10; formerly $7.25.

Residence, one party line (wall), $4.75; formerly $3.75.

Residence, two party, $3.50; formerly $3.00.

Residence, four party, $2.75; formerly $2.25.

After January, 1926, there will be measured service for business phones, it is announced, thus eliminating the flat rate from the commercial field.

The San Rafael Hills chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will meet Monday afternoon, January 19, at 2 o'clock. Hostesses are the Misses Baily, 5149 Live Oak View avenue.

The program will consist of: paper by Mrs. M. M. Maybury, state chaplain; reading, Mrs. Calvin Whiting; music, Miss Marie Stuckwisch.

Mr. and Mrs. Kimbrough of Weldon, Arkansas, visited recently with the Slaght family on Loy lane. Mrs. Kimbrough is a sister of Mrs. Slaght. They fell in love with California and especially Eagle Rock and promised to return.

Mrs. Ellen J. Hickey of 5140 Eagle Rock boulevard had as recent guests her daughter, Mrs. Murgard L. Hansen and daughter, Dorothy, and Mrs. Ella B. Moor. They motored up from San Diego.

Mrs. Verna Nelson of 2038 Colorado boulevard has returned from a trip to Minneapolis, where she had taken her mother, who has been in ill health and who will remain with her son there during the winter.

Sgt. Maj. Rooney, Real Irish, Visits Glendale

Glendale is honored today by the presence of Sergeant-Major Terrance Rooney, veteran of the World war and a soldier of fortune, who has a brogue and the naive charm that only belongs to the Irish. Rooney, although born in this country, gives all the evidence of having come from the "auld sod," and is selling pencils. He belongs to the American Legion, "40 Hommes Et 8 Chevaux," Disabled Veterans of the Republic, Disabled American Veterans and several other army organizations.

EASTERN STAR ANNIVERSARY BIRTHDAY

Local Chapter One Year Old This Month Celebrates With Program

Glendale chapter No. 422, Order of Eastern Star, celebrated its first birthday anniversary Saturday night with a banquet and entertainment held at the Masonic temple, 232 South Brand boulevard. The banquet hall was decorated in red and green. Candles in the Eastern Star colors of blue, yellow, white, green and red, were table decorations. Rose shaped nut baskets were found at the places of each guest with the place cards attached.

William E. Moore, worthy patron was toastmaster and introduced Mrs. Cora Spring Holland, associate grand matron; Dr. W. E. Sibley, husband of Mrs. Maude Bigelow Sibley, junior past worthy grand matron, who was unable to be present account of an accident; Mrs. Anna Hughes, past grand chaplain; Mrs. T. H. Hudson, past worthy matron of Glendale chapter, Henry A. Cozad, past worthy patron, and Mrs. Nellie C. Jennings, worthy matron of Glendale chapter, all gave toasts.

Mrs. T. H. Hudson, past worthy matron of Glendale chapter who also holds the honor of being the first worthy matron of the chapter, gave a brief outline of the history of the chapter telling that Glendale chapter, Order of Eastern Star, was first organized on January 21, 1924, with a charter membership of thirty. The membership of the chapter is now 122. Mrs. Maude Hazen, past deputy grand matron and Mrs. Sallie Braden, deputy grand matron, and Mrs. Bigelow, mother of Mrs. Sibley, were introduced by the toastmaster.

Initiate Candidate

After the banquet two candidates were initiated with Mrs. Nellie C. Jennings, worthy matron in charge. Mrs. Evelyn G. Pierce had charge of the entertainment program. Mrs. Mina Wenzel sang "Sylvia" with Mrs. Pierce accompanying on the piano and George Pierce accompanying on the clarinet. Henry Cozad gave a reading from James Whitcomb Riley; Mrs. Pierce read "The Two Preachers" with whistling accompaniment by Mrs. Fern Carlock, and "At the Box Office"; Maude Nichol gave an Irish jig in costume; Mrs. Fern Carlock gave whistling solos; Mrs. Libbie Cutting and Mrs. Maude Smith gave the Dutch dance "Heinie and Tiny" in costume.

The program proved entertaining and the members on the program responded to encores. The decoration committee was in charge of Mrs. Hettie Lawson who was assisted by Mrs. Maude Evans, Mrs. Mamie Hale, Mrs. Bertha Wilson, Mrs. Clytelle Hewitt, Mrs. Maude Mills. Mrs. Freda Augustin was chairman of the refreshment committee and was assisted by Mrs. Anna Gardner, Mrs. Mary Nagel, Mrs. Henrietta Murray and Mrs. Ida May West. Miss Edna Moore had charge of the favors and was assisted by Mrs. Georgia Lambie, Miss Lambie and Miss Grace Jennings.

Church Thanks Evening News For Its Aid

Doty L. Anderson, press chairman for the First Church of Nazarene, expresses the thanks of the congregation for the publicity given the recent evangelistic campaign in the columns of The Glendale Evening News, in the following letter to A. T. Cowan, publisher:

"I wish to thank you for the splendid way you and your staff of employes handled the stories on our evangelistic campaign conducted by Rev. St. Clair. The attendance at the services has been very gratifying, and they have been very successful. I feel that your paper has been one of the means of the success of the meetings. I wish to express my thanks to Mrs. Stanley for her assistance in the stories."

DR. FERRIS GIVES THIRD OF SERIES

First Methodist Pastor In Sunday Sermon on 'Remember Moth'

Dr. Lincoln A. Ferris pastor of the Frst Methodist church, delivered the third of a series of sermons on "The Sermon on the Mount," the theme being "Remember the Moth," saying:

"You haven't settled anything until you settle it under the eyes of Christ and in the light of the Sermon on the Mount. 'Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth where moth and rust doth corrupt and thieves break through and steal, but lay up for yourselves treasures in Heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt nor thieves break through and steal, for where your treasure is, there will your hearrt be also. Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His Righteousness, and all these things will be added unto you.'

"The Moth represents only destruction. Remember the Moth. Remember the thing that gets into the thing that you prize and destroys it while you think it safe. A man who sells out his soul for the things his hand can touch isn't much of a man. He's a fool. If this night thy soul is required of thee, then whose are the things? Jesus asked you to step out and stand for the thing that is right. He asks you to be the out-and-out man. He asks you to take your stand strong enough to stand beside Him in truth. Jesus is trying to lift us out of our banks, our real estate, out of our littleness of earthly things, for 'where your treasure is, there will your heart be also'."

AUTO ACCIDENT IS FATAL TO AGED MAN

John Q. Seng, 83 Years Old, Dies at Hospital on Sunday Morning

John Q. Seng of 246 North Louise street, 83 years old, died at 10:15 o'clock Sunday morning, January 18, 1925, at the Glendale Research hospital, following an automobile accident Saturday night, when he was struck by a car driven by Roy L. Kent of 522 North Central avenue. The accident occurred at 6:25 o'clock at the corner of Brand boulevard and California avenue. The body was taken to the Jewel City undertaking parlors. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made, pending an investigation by the Los Angeles county coroner.

In his report of the accident, filed at Glendale police headquarters, Mr. Kent states:

"I was going north on Brand boulevard at ten miles per hour. Mr. Seng was standing between the line of traffic and the car tracks, waiting for the cars to pass. Immediately my car was opposite him, he started to cross and hit my car at the rear door."

Rushed to Hospital

Mr. Kent stopped his car at once, witnesses state, and rushed the man to the Glendale Research hospital, where it was reported that he had a fractured skull. Though every attention was given to the patient and though Dr. T. C. Young did everything in his power, the aged man's life could not be saved. He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Mary A. Seng, by a son and by a daughter.

The coroner's inquest over the body of John Q. Seng has been set for 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, January 21, states Chief John D. Fraser of the Glendale police department, who has been requested by the Los Angeles county coroner to empanel a jury. The inquest will be held at the Jewel City undertaking parlors.

Doctor's Statement

The following statement concerning the death of John Q. Seng was issued this morning by Dr. T. C. Young, who was in charge of the victim at the Glendale Research hospital:

"Mr. Seng died as the result of a fractured skull. The blow that caused the fatal injury occurred when he lost his footing and fell to the pavement, after he had walked into Mr. Kent's car. The concussion of being hit by the car was not what caused his death. He died approximately eighteen hours after the accident, without regaining consciousness."

Police Statement

"I am able to state, after investigation, that the death of John Q. Seng was an unavoidable accident," Chief John D. Fraser of the Glendale police department said this morning. "It is reported that not only was the victim 83 years old and feeble, but that he had cataracts over his eyes. A man of such age and infirmities

Dry? Then Read This Story!

It's About Glendale's Water Supply

Lots Of People Here Drink It!

The water from this year's rains will be flowing into Glendale bathtubs and basins in 1930. The water now being used fell during 1920. Or, as City Manager Virgil B. Stone puts it:

"Four or five years are required for surface water to reach the gravel beds under the city of Glendale, that great natural reservoir formed when the earth was made, as a receptacle for the freshets that shower down from the Verdugo hills following a rain."

This subterranean reservoir is tapped by the Glendale pumping plant, which daily draws up an average of 7,000,000 gallons of crystal water from this gigantic storehouse, distributing it to the 10,000 water meters of the city through a network of pipes as intricate as the human circulatory system.

The surplus goes into two large reservoirs, one at Tenth street, the other on Verdugo road. The joint capacity of these two reservoirs is 22,500,000 gallons. Other smaller reservoirs in various parts of the city hold additional reserves. In an emergency, the city pumping plant could deliver 13,000,000 gallons of water a day, states Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production.

In the six years the pumping plant has been located west of San Fernando road, near Aviation drive, on the "pump farm," the water level in these great gravel beds has not been lowered appreciably, standing at a steady average of twenty-two feet below the surface, Mr. Diederich states. This gives some indication of the billions of gallons of water contained in this gigantic natural reservoir under the city, which needs only to be tapped to deliver its endless streams of pure, cool water.

Naturally, such a reservoir, like man-made storage tanks, must be replenished, and this nature does, in the rain waters that are caught on the watersheds of the La Canada-La Crescenta mountains and the Verdugo hills, and that gradually seep down into the gravels under the city.

It is estimated by Mr. Stone and Mr. Diederich that some of the water used today by Glendale residents is even more than five years old, coming from rains as far back as 1910 in cases where it has seeped down from the more distant mountains beyond Tujunga.

When the consumer turns on his faucet to take a drink, in other words, he is getting a blend of the waters of many years. Unlike that certain beverage of France, which is likewise noted for its sparkle, the crystalline waters produced in the distillery of the green Verdugo hills taste much the same one year as another, and no man has yet been able to say, when he raises his glass in a silent toast to Glendale: "This is the water of the vintage of 1910, or of 1920," nor is such a connoisseur ever likely to appear on the scene, Mr. Stone and Mr. Diederich agree.

Anyone who knows water can say with entire truth, however, as he lifts his glass drawn from a Glendale faucet: "This is good water."

And that, declare Mr. Stone and Mr. Diederich, is all one need say, except, perhaps, to add: "And here's hoping we'll have lots more like it, in the form of a generous 1925 rainfall!"

Plays Lead

MARY WORTH, who has the leading role in "Love Laughs," the current production by Dobinson Players.

"Love Laughs," a sparkling comedy drama, is to be the next offering of the Dobinson Players at the Playhouse, Central at Lexington. This three-act comedy by George D. Parker is an excellent successor to the thrilling melodrama, "The Hole in the Wall," which has delighted audiences the past two weeks.

"Love Laughs" might well have for its slogan "Two shows for the price of one," as it is really two plays—one a comedy of propinquity and love, the other a melodrama of "stolen" gems and midnight burglary—neatly dovetailed.

The story revolves about a nerve specialist who is besought by a love-struck bachelor who asks to be made sick so that he can be nursed by his inamorata. Propinquity, says the bachelor, will bring about the desired engagement. The doctor finally responds to the request and the ten days' illness is on. Propinquity does its work, but it is the doctor's ward, however, to whom the bachelor becomes affianced while the physician, himself, wins the heart of the nurse. The charming nurse happens to be the daughter of a famous London specialist and has fled from her home with her dead mother's jewels as her father is about to marry a much younger woman. Father sends a detective to recover the gems without arresting the girl. The detective breaks into the American doctor's safe when everybody in the house happens in, and then explanations are forthcoming.

An excellent cast has been chosen for this production which includes Mary Isabelle Alpaugh, Joseph McManus, Mary Worth, William H. Stephens, Richard Ehlers, Eugenia Florence, Arthur Lovejoy and Harry J. Glazier.

"Love Laughs" will be presented for the first time at the Wednesday matinee, January 21.

Club Members Praise News On Publicity

Mrs. Mary R. Morrow of 343 Ivy street, district manager of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, on behalf of the Glendale lodge, praises The Glendale Evening News highly for publicity given. In a note to The News she says:

"It is my pleasure to write you on behalf of the Glendale lodge of Ancient Order of United Workmen, to thank you for the wonderful publicity you have given us. Your assistance in the reorganization of the local lodge has been invaluable. We have found your editorial staff and office employes ever courteous and ready to serve in maintaining The News on the high standard for which it is noted. We have shown clippings from The Glendale Evening News to lodge executives from other districts, and when they tell us of the lack of co-operation on the part of their city papers, we are more than proud and appreciative of what The News has done for us."

Large Attendance at Christian Endeavor

An enthusiastic session was held last night at the weekly meeting of the senior intermediate Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church. The topic of the meeting was "The Conquest of Selfishness," and the leaders were Wilbur Lemon and Lawrence Reynolds. Rev. W. E. Edmonds spoke to the group, stressing the John E. Brown evangelistic campaign near at hand. There followed talks by Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Brown, and by many of the others present.

The goal of eighty present for the meeting was overreached by the group. The girls, by having four more of their number present than the boys, maintained their lead in the attendance campaign started for the four Sundays of this month. Next Sunday afternoon a canvass for attendance will be held by both factions to bring in more visitors. A number of members visited the Los Angeles General hospital at 2 o'clock the preceding afternoon, where a program of song was held.

Official Board to Be Dinner Guests Tonight

Rev. and Mrs. Clifford A. Cole and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mercer of Central Christian church, are to be hosts tonight at a dinner and reception for members of the official board of the church. There will be 110 places at the dinner table.

Dinner and Program At Church Tomorrow

Dinner and a program will be enjoyed tomorrow night by members of the Men's club meeting at the First Congregational church.

SAFETY DRIVE IS PLANNED BY LIONS

Local Club Will Assist In Campaign In Nevada And California

The Lions club of this city is working in conjunction with all other Lions clubs in California and Nevada on a definite campaign to cut down the appalling loss of life caused by careless and reckless auto driving.

The unique windshield sticker that is being distributed by the members of the Lions club will be used universally throughout this campaign, and it is hoped that all motorists will assist in this movement for public safety. These windshield stickers can be obtained from any member of the Lions club in this city.

Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, has called a meeting of all the presidents of international service clubs and other leaders in welfare movements, to enlist their aid in a nation-wide safety campaign for sane auto driving. This meeting will be held during the last of January.

Seek Co-operation

The city and county authorities will co-operate in this movement and citizens generally are commending the Lions club for instituting this worthwhile movement for civic welfare. The entire nation is aroused over the menace to the public, and particularly school children, from reckless and, in some cases, thoughtless

GRANT EXTENSION ON ATWATER BONDS

Assessments for Street Improvements On Glendale Boulevard Are Being Prepared; Become Due Jan. 31

Although January 19 was originally set as the date on which assessments against Glendale boulevard property for street improvement were to go to bond, an extension of time to at least January 31 will be granted, it was announced by Elliott & Horn, Los Angeles bonding house. The extension will be granted, due to the fact that warrants on the assessment have been delayed and have not as yet been turned over to the collectors.

The assessment is against property on the south side of Glendale boulevard between Larga and Glenhurst avenues in the Atwater district and is for the paving of the boulevard between those two points. Following the spreading of the assessment, time was allowed in which property owners can make cash payment, otherwise the assessment goes to bond and is made payable over a period of ten years.

In all cases, bills containing the amount of each assessment will be either delivered in person or mailed to property owners affected, it was announced by Elliott & Horn. In the event the exact amount of any assessment bill is desired before statements are sent out, the information may be obtained from the bonding house, provided the full legal description of the propety is given. All applications and payments should be made to Elliott & Horn, 614 South Spring street, Los Angeles.

Association Meeting

The biggest and most important meeting of the Atwater Community association in months will take place tonight at the Atwater Baptist church with President Arthur M. Gilman presiding. Paul E. Lipscomb, founder of the association, will again occupy the office of secretary at the meeting, having been renamed to that position at the executive board meeting last week.

Reduction of street car fares between Atwater and downtown Los Angeles, additional street paving in the tract, further action in securing a branch public library, and discussion of plans for new bridges across the Los Angeles river, will be included in important matters taken up. Alfred J. Barnes of the planning commission will address the meeting, telling the object of the joint meeting of civic bodies with members of the board of supervistors and city councilmen at Hollywood Athletic club Wednesday night when more bridges in the Ivanhoe district will be strongly urged. A musical program will precede the business session, commencing at 7:30 o'clock.

Plan Masonic Lodge

A Masonic lodge for the Atwater district will be the object of a meeting Thursday night of this week under the direction of J. E. Noble, 3343 Madera avenue. All master Masons residing in and near Atwater have been issued an invitation to attend the meeting and participate in plans for formation of the lodge. The gathering will take place at the real estate office of Arthur M. Gilman of Glendale boulevard, near Larga avenue.

"There are many Masons living in the Atwater section," Mr. Noble said in issuing the call for the meeting. "We hope to have a large representation Thursday night when first steps toward formation of a lodge will be taken. All Master Masons are cordially invited."

Shakespeare thought we might reform by hanging all the lawyers; but we can't do it by hanging all the juries.

Daily Greeting to News Readers

WHEN YOU GO TO BED—
Don't take an evil hatred with you.
You will find a clear conscience the best sedative.
Refuse to begin tomorrow's work until tomorrow morning.
You may count the day successful if you ask God's blessing on it.
Don't make worry a bedfellow.
You will realize that sleep is God's most charitable gift.

VALUE OF SCHOOLING

Much time is spent by educators and others in compiling figures that will express the value of an education in dollars and cents. Everett W. Lord, dean of the College of Business Administration of Boston University, says that a high school graduate earns $33,000 more money by the time he is sixty years old than does the boy who goes to work before reaching the high school, and if he goes to college or technical school his earnings are $72,000 more. No doubt these figures are as nearly correct as is possible to compute, although the worth of an education cannot be expressed in dollars and cents.

The question of an education is an individual one. Boys and girls are not all cut over the same pattern, and it is not easy to give them advice in groups. The boy who goes to high school or college for fun or because he is compelled to go may absorb a little knowledge, but he is not being educated. The thing for parents and teachers to do is to try to impress upon young people that the more education they get the greater their opportunities for a large and fuller life and the higher their value to society.

THE PENITENTIARY FOR BOOTLEGGERS

We may hope to see less lawbreaking when more jurists follow the example of a San Francisco federal judge who recently handed out the most severe sentence recorded in California courts for the violation of the Volstead act. A man who operated a place where liquor was sold was fined $10,000 and sentenced to two years in prison. Two police officers who were involved in protection of the place were also sentenced to prison and fined $1000 and $2500, and two employes were also fined and jailed.

More penitentiary sentences for those who violate the prohibition act would tend to create greater respect for the law. It is said that the Volstead act, itself, is at fault in providing only fines in some classes of cases for first offenses. To one whose profits are as huge as those of the bootlegger a fine that would be excessive in other cases is not even felt. And of course to one engaged in such a business there is no stigma attached to arrest. The only way to punish him is to separate him from his job.

MUNICIPAL SQUABBLES

Some of our neighboring municipalities are having a little excitement of the kind that does communities no good. Anaheim is in the throes of a little civil war over the Ku Klux Klan, and the fight is featured by a municipal recall election and a resolution by the Chamber of Commerce that the Klan is a menace to the city. There are charges also that a well-known evangelist who is conducting meetings in that city is "a tool of the Klan."

In Pomona the date was all set for the "blue law" election, but all of the citizens hadn't registered—and the registration blanks ran out. Now there are charges and counter-charges growing out of this incident, emphasized by the hard feeling that existed over the main issue.

Municipal squabbles of this kind are to be avoided. Stirring up hard feeling among the people of a community never leads to any good.

ADVOCATES PEACE SECRETARY

David Starr Jordan, who has just received the World Federation of Educators' prize of $25,000 for an essay setting forth a scheme of peace education, has advanced in this treatise an idea which, although it is not new, seems splendidly practical and workable. He proposes the appointment of a government agency or the establishment of a department for the promotion of peace at least as powerful as the general staff of the army and navy. The army and navy have become firmly entrenched in government affairs and have become very powerful. "They can always get full pages in the papers telling how much big military and naval establishments are needed," says this educator, "but when the peace people want anything they have to pay for it themselves."

Peace is a matter of general education, there is no possible single plan to accomplish it, according to Dr. Jordan.

THE GOLDEN SCROLL

All loyal Californians, either native or adopted, should hasten to join the Society of the Golden Scroll. This is the organization to which John Steven McGroarty has turned over his Mission Play. The society will raise funds to complete the partially erected new Mission Playhouse at San Gabriel and lodge the pageant in its own permanent home and then devote the proceeds of the play to the preservation and restoration of the old Missions of California.

Mr. McGroarty has done so much in his Mission play, his histories, poems and editorial writings o keep alive the romance of the early days of California. The Society of the Golden Scroll now opens the way for the small contributor as well as the large to help perform a service to the state in perpetuating the Mission play and preserving and restoring the old Missions.

SCIENCE AND MARRIAGE

One of the questions discussed by the American Association for advancement of Science at the recent annual meeting of that organization in Washington, D. C., was the possibility of drafting a model national marriage law. Also it was proposed to draft a model marriage license application for submission to state legislatures for enactment. One of the requirements, it was brought out, should be data on each applicant from birth to maturity. There would be very stringent provisions to which applicants for a marriage license would have to conform.

While there is much to be desired in the way of uniform marriage laws in this country, and while it would be better for society if marriage were not so easy, it will probably be some time before Science is able to control marriage and parenthood in the United States.

Long ago it was demonstrated that alcohol was worse than useless in the treatment of snake bite. Now, by experiment, it has been shown that alcohol hinders rather than helps our mental and muscular efforts. Still, it's the only agent we have that will picture pink elephants.

In one Texas county, more money was spent eradicating hoof and mouth disease than will be spent in five years by the public health department of that entire state.

WHY NOT REMOVE THE NOSE BAG?

Solitaire

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Life, in many respects, resembles a game of solitaire.

Its success depends quite as much upon how the cards are dealt as upon the players' skill in setting them down. There is no use, very much, of being a skillful performer if you do not have the cards.

Life, at its best, is a combination of luck and skill.

What we call luck consists in the way events come to us. These events are controlled by a power not of ourselves. It makes little difference what we call that power, whether it is Deity, in some form, or the laws of the universe. Suffice it to say it is not under our control, but we are, perhaps, under its.

All sorts of devices have been suggested by which man is to control those forces which are beyond him, such as prayer and all sorts of relations with the infinite, including fortune telling, but no law as yet has been discovered which is practical invariably.

It still remains that a good part of success is dependable not upon ourselves, but upon the order of events in the world in which we live.

Notwithstanding this fact the results of skill remain indubitable. In the long run the player who believes in himself, and who acts intelligently and courageously, will win.

If there be such a thing as luck it is a fickle jade and comes to those who believe in themselves and has a way of disappointing those who do not.

Not only does luck eventually control us and our doings, but it has a way of coming to the man who believes that luck is in his favor. That is to say, his very attitude toward it is such as to bring it to him.

Napoleon believed in his star and all other great men who have accomplished much have believed in themselves and that fortune favored them.

It is as easy to believe one thing as another and those who adopt the attitude that is favorable to fortune usually find that fortune adopts the attitude that is favorable to them.

Those who believe, in some way, that the unseen forces are with them are usually more successful than those who believe that these forces are against them.

Perhaps all there is to it is that a belief in fortune is apt to steady one's hand and increase one's skill and that therefore the efforts one puts forth are thereby increased.

Horoscope

Uranus in benefic aspect dominates this day, according to astrology. Mercury, Mars and Venus are all adverse.

The mind instead of the heart rules today and for this reason it is especially auspicious for making decisions and planning future acts.

Logic should prevail over emotion even in love affairs under this sway and for that reason engagements made today may be exceedingly fortunate for men.

Women may not be lucky today in anything they attempt independently, but should succeed with the co-operation of men.

It is not a favorable direction of the stars for signing contracts, actresses especially should be wary.

Jealousy and envy affecting the artistic and professional efforts of men and women are indicated.

This is rather a threatening aspect for domestic happiness for quarrels are easily precipitated while mars is in malefic sway.

Rumors of wars, or of preparation for conflict may be prevalent and they will stimulate many peace organizations to real activity, it is foretold.

The death of an army officer of distinguished name is foretold for this winter and military men appear to be subject to more than their usual share of illness or peril.

One of the aspects is read as influencing women's dress and making for changes that will benefit modistes next year.

Again a return to modest standard of attire is forecast, but it will be accompanied by extravagances in style that will be costly.

Physicians and surgeons are subject to a rule making for great activity and urgent need of extension of hospital systems.

Persons whose birthdate it is should not essay any experiments in business or love in the new year. Annoyances and dangers will attend departure from beaten paths.

Children born on this day may be fond of travel and change, restless, imaginative and rather difficult to manage. These subjects of Aquarius usually have great will power and high purpose.

Puzzle

HOW TO SOLVE PUZZLE

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. The key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words:

(RUNNING ACROSS)

Word 1. Used by the blacksmith in the picture.

Word 3. It enables you to hear a concert in your home even when the orchestra is miles away.

Word 4. A woman who wears a white uniform and works in a hospital.

(RUNNING DOWN)

Word 1. A large city in Ohio where most rubber tires are made.

Word 2. Opposite of tight.

FOR NIGHT LIGHTING

10 Years Ago

Alfred Knight and Don Packer, who have been spending the holidays in Glendale, returned to school at Berkeley, the first of the week.

Glendale people were treated to an unusual sight Thursday, when Aviator De Lloyd Thompson was making his daily flight from the Griffith park field, although few who witnessed the aviator's feats knew that Mrs. Barney Oldfield was his passenger. This fearless woman established a record for herself by being the first of her sex to loop the loop in an aeroplane. Thompson's machine is built for only one.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

What is the hardest task in the world?

To think, was the answer given by Emerson.

"We say, I will walk abroad, and the truth will take form and clearness to me. We go forth, but cannot find it. It seems as if we needed only the stillness and composed attitude of the library to seize the thought. But we come in, and are as far from it as at first. Then, in a moment, a certain wandering light appears, and is the distinction, the principle, we wanted.

"But the oracle comes because we had previously laid siege to the shrine. It seems as if the law of the intellect resembled that law of nature by which the heart now draws in, then hurls out the blood,—the law of undulation."

In thinking, as in everything else, you must persevere.

Every mind has its own method. The differences between men in natural endowment are insignificant in comparison with their common wealth. Do you think the porter and the street-sweeper have no anecdotes, no experiences, no wonders for you? The walls of crude minds are scrawled all over with facts, with thoughts.

Emerson observes that every man, in the degree in which he has wit and culture, finds his curiosity inflamed concerning the modes of living and thinking of other men, and especially of those classes whose minds have never been subdued by the drills of school education.

The difference between persons is not in wisdom but in art.

"I knew a person who always deferred to me, who seeing my whim for writing, fancied that my experiences were superior; whilst I saw that his experiences were as good as mine," Emerson writes. "Give them to me and I would make the same of them. He held the old; he holds the new; I had the habit of tacking together the old and the new which he did not use to exercise."

This may hold in the great examples. Perhaps, if we should meet Shakespeare, or Goethe, we should not be conscious of any great inferiority,—only that he possessed a skill of using, of classifying his facts, which we lacked. For, not withstanding our utter incapacity to produce anything like Hamlet and Othello, this wit and immense knowledge of life and eloquence finds a reception in us.

GOOD BAROMETERS

Cats are not the only creatures that foretell rain. Birds are especially good as barometers. There is an old rhyme that says, "When fowls roll in the sand rain is at hand," and when hens are seen trimming their feathers, it is a good sign of rain. Skylarks soar high if the weather is likely to remain good, but low if wet days impend. Gulls utter mournful tones and guineas shriek when bad weather is approaching.

INDEX TO CO-OPERATIVE DEPARTMENT

PAGE 6 OF THIS ISSUE OF THE EVENING NEWS

Of course when you want to buy merchandise of any kind you are anxious to patronize a Glendale dealer. When you wish to employ professional skill it is your desire to secure a local man. When repair work is needed it is to your advantage to have the work done by mechanics near home.

The object of this index column is to refer you to the CO-OPERATIVE DEPARTMENT on Page 6 of this issue, where you will find listed a large number of merchants, tradesmen and professional men who are real boosters for Glendale. While the Community Loyalty Section will appear in The Evening News one day every week, yet readers are advised to cut it out and hold it for reference for the purpose of ascertaining names and locations of business firms in Glendale.

COMING OF LORD IS SERMON TOPIC

Principles of Seventh-Day Adventists Stressed by Pastor Parmele

A capacity congregation assembled at the Seventh-day Adventist church Saturday morning to hear Pastor Parmele speak on the text found in Luke 12:35-40. The burden of the message was "Let your loins be girt about and your lights burning, and ye, yourselves, like unto men that wait for their Lord."

"Such expressions," said the speaker, "as 'coming in the second watch or in the third watch,' and 'in such an hour as ye think not the Son of Man cometh,' clearly show that it is not possible for us to know when the coming of the Lord will take place. We may know that He is near, and should be in expectancy, 'but of the day and hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels, nor the Son,' as we learn from Mark 13:32.

"But in spite of these plain statements there are some who claim to know more than the Son of God. About a year ago there were circulated from an airplane and published in the newspapers the assertion that Christ would come two weeks from next Friday. And so far from retracting the claim, those who put it forth have just published it again in their little paper, copy of which came to me through the mails this very morning. I do not speak of this to ridicule in any sense of the word—God forbid that I should ridicule anyone. But I feel that I should this morning repeat the statement so often made by our denomination that we do not believe in such a doctrine. In all our history we have recognized the truth of these plain texts that I have read, that none may know the day of the coming of Christ. This principle is oft-repeated in our denominational literature, and has been from the very first of our existence as a separate people.

Last Generation

"Yet, while we do not believe that any may know the day of the coming of Christ, we do believe as strongly that we may know that 'He is near, even at the doors.' The last sign of His coming that He gave His disciples, as recorded in Matthew 24, took place May 19, 1833. There is a man now living in Los Angeles who is still spry and well-preserved, who was 15 years old when that sign was given. So some of that generation are still with us, and we believe that we are living in the last generation that shall dwell upon this sin-cursed earth.

"We are expecting the coming of the Lord, but even our uncertainty as to the exact date furnishes the greater reason for watchfulness. When I wish to board a train I do not watch for it until the time for its arrival comes, then, thus thrown into uncertainty, I begin my watchfulness.

"Now in this time when we are especially exhorted to watchfulness, notwithstanding the evidence of its approach all around us, we are in danger of going to sleep. So the Savior tells us, as recorded in Mark 13:36, that we must watch, 'Lest coming suddenly, he find you sleeping.' In I Thessalonians 5:6 we are told that the world will lie in darkness of the event, and the saints are exhorted 'Let us not sleep as do others.' What if others are sleeping and continue in the mad rush after the dollar, or after pleasure, we should continue our vigil. And while we are watching we must be 'like men who wait for their Lord.'

Sees Great Future

"A man who is truly waiting for the Lord will not allow himself to be tangled up in the affairs of this life, he will not indulge in the follies of the world, he will not follow the world's fashions, but his blessed hope will spur him to activity in the cause of God. The world expects to see that consecrated life in the Seventh-day Adventist church, and rightly so. They have a right to expect greater things of us than of those who do not entertain this hope. But how is it, brethren? Do we truly look like men waiting for their Lord?

"I do not say these things chidingly. I have been greatly cheered by the numerous evidences and promises of better things for 1925. I have appreciated greatly—more than I can tell you—the assurances of greater activity and faithfulness in church work that have been given me at the beginning of this new year. And I earnestly trust that the year 1925 will be the best in the history of the Glendale Seventh-day Adventist church."

The subject treated at the service last night was "The World's Birthday."

WONDERS OF CITY OUTLINED IN TALK

Bert P. Woodard Describes Glendale In Address as Part of Program Given Over Radio Saturday

The wonders and advantages of "Glendale, the Jewel City," were extolled in an address over the ether waves by Bert P. Woodard, Glendale attorney, Saturday night. Mr. Woodard's talk was given in connection with the second monthly Glendale radio program, arranged under the supervision of the Chamber of Commerce.

Glendale was on the air from 9 to 10 o'clock Saturday night, broadcasting a program of splendid musical numbers over KFI. A group of songs by Melford C. Jackson was a feature. He was accompanied by Miss May Orcutt. Mrs. Frank N. Arnold and Miss Elizabeth Mottern sang a group of duets, accompanied by Miss Florence Hoover Rogers. Miss Mottern also sang several solo numbers. Hawaiian music by the Lane Trio completed the program.

Woodard's Address

Gould H. Warren, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce radio committee, and his assistants, R. Ernest Tucker, superintendent of municipal recreation, and J. Arthur Myers, leader of the Community Symphony orchestra, had charge of the program.

Following is the address delivered by Attorney Woodard on Glendale's radio program:

"My friends, we would like to know whether you enjoy this Glendale program, and to induce you to communicate with us and comment upon it, the Glendale Chamber of Commerce has authorized me to promise all who write to it a beautiful Glendale, California, souvenir. If you are interested, write, mentioning this radio program, and the souvenir will come to you by return mail. Address your communication to the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, Glendale, Calif.

"Before I begin to talk to you I must first speak to two rather important individuals who are listening in from foreign states. One of them is my mother—God bless her—I hope she hears me, because she will enjoy what I say, whether anyone else does or not. The other person to whom I send greetings has passed her threescore and ten years, and occupies a place second to none in that array of relatives in our family known as the in-laws. She has never yet been the cause of a divorce, although she has four families which universal custom gives her the right to wreck. She is a real mother-in-law, and we all love her. The only mistake she ever made was when she refused to come to Glendale to live.

Some Early History

"I once heard a man of wide experience and ability as a lecturer say that public speaking is one of the lowest forms of public amusement, and with this terrible fact confronting me, I am frank to confess to you that I am at a loss to know just how to entertain an invisible audience, and at the same time convey to it some idea of what the city of Glendale really is.

"I do not know how I could better impress you than to introduce you to a few of the people of Glendale, and as we have started out by talking to these relatives of mine we might as well continue for a while in this conversational manner. To begin with we will drop by the city hall and see what we can learn from the city treasurer, J. C. Sherer. He has lived in Glendale since the days of the jackrabbit. He tells us that a complete history of the city would furnish a field of attractive study involving the old Spanish and Mexican land grants, which were of doubtful validity until stabilized by proper court proceedings after California became a state. That the history of the families to whom this territory passed would read like a scenario, and if rejected upon the screen would not only visualize the primitive condition and romantic people of that time, but would show the life struggle of many of the early pioneers, some few of whom are still living. But let's not delve into this early history any further. We learn from Mr. Sherer that the Pacific Electric railroad entered the city in the year 1904, and gave it its first real outlet. The next outstanding step taken by the then community was the holding of an election in the year 1906, as a result of which the city was incorporated and became a city of the sixth class. The vote polled at that memorable election was 75 for incorporation to 41 against. At that time the new city could boast that it had a weekly newspaper, some few businesses and business houses and the old Glendale Country club. He tells us that few cities in America, or in the world, have been privileged to enjoy the prosperity that Glendale has since that time, but, having acquired that graceful habit peculiar to all city officials of referring one to someone else, we will take his suggestion and go down to the offices of the city manager, V. B. Stone. He ought to know lots about Glendale.

"Well, Mr. Stone, we have here an invisible audience for you to talk to. Our time is limited. Tell us something worth while, and if you have a bunch of statistics, give them to us fast. And this is what he says:

"The Federal census of 1920 showed an increase in population of 349 per cent; the population at that time was 13,567, and since 1920 it has increased to approximately 60,000 people. During the year 1923 the building permits amounted to $10,047,649, and in 1924, $10,169,761, almost a million dollars per month for two whole years; the assessed valuation of property in 1923 was $30,092,460, and in 1924, $47,061,355, an increase of over $16,000,000 during 1924. I could talk to you for hours about such things as the new $275,000 Y. M. C. A. building, new hotels, aviation activities, the two new railroad depots, the $2,000,000 Pacific Electric Railway tunnel nearing completion, which will shorten the traveling time between Glendale and Los Angeles, but this you say would consume too much time. About the largest and best thing the city has accomplished recently is the solution of the sewer problem. The perplexing matter of providing an adequate sewer system for Glendale was worked out by entering into a contract with our neighbor, the city of Los Angeles, whereby Glendale obtained the right to intercept and use its $12,000,000 outfall sewer to the ocean. The contracts for the construction of this sewer from Glendale to the point of interception in Los Angeles have been met, in three separate sections, and it is now in course of construction and will be completed by the close of the present year, at a cost of $1,600,000.

Then to Church

"That will do for you, Mr. Stone. To whom do you suggest that we go for another viewpoi ? Judge Lowe's police court: Good gracious, no. I am going to take these people to church. Right in here, my friends, is Dr. Clifford Cole's study. He knows we are coming. Just sit and listen.

"He advises us that along with the material growth of the city, there has been a spiritual upbuilding as is evidenced by the twenty-nine churches of the city, without which no city, large or small, can prosper. These places of worship, scattered throughout the city, dignified and beautiful, some of them costing many thousands of dollars, while others are of less proportions, but none the less important in their sphere of influence, guarantee to all who come that they will find their particular denomination ready to welcome them.

"Schools? Yes, Dr. Cole, tell us about them. The total attendance in the Glendale Union High school is now 2,122, and the ten intermediate and elementary schools have today an attendance of 5,420, making a total sc ol attendance of 7,542. The average annual rate of increase in school attendance is 20 to 23 per cent, which will bring the attendance at the end of this year to at least 9,000. Think of it, and just imagine such an army of young people.

Building for Future

"Only recently a new high school site of twenty acres was purchased, and a high school building erected thereon and equipped at a cost of $1,800,000, and it is now apparent that another site and building of a similar character will soon be necessary in the opposite section of the city. To supply this need, and the needs of the intermediate and elementary schools, the people are now being asked to vote favorably upon a proposed bond issue in the sum of $1,200,000 for each of these systems, making a total issue of $2,400,000, which it is believed will furnish sufficient funds for the program of school buildings and equipment during the next three to five years. We must interrupt you, Dr. Cole. Time is of the essence of the agreement I made with the manager of this program, and I am going to use the remaining time myself.

"And now, my friends, I want to tell you something about the civic organizations of the city. We have a number of such organizations, ranging in membership from as low as 15 to something like 1000. The first one I must mention is that exclusive organization composed of 999 retired Iowa farmers and one cripple from Nebraska, who has a speaking acquaintance with Honorable William Jennings Bryan and knows his brother personally. This club has pitched horseshoes in every city, town and hamlet in Southern California, and has brought back almost as many trophies as we have won from year to year in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses. The Glendale Horseshoe club is a real go-getter, but, like almost all organizations, there is just one little thing it lacks to make it perfect. It is a sad commentary, but they are minus a quartet to sing 'Sweet Adeline.'

Civic Organizations

"But, seriously, my friends, the civic organizations have meant and are doing much for the upbuilding of Glendale. The chief or central organization is, of course, the Chamber of Commerce. It is like the little microphone here in front of me—the mouthpiece of them all, and through which they all broadcast. It will give you an idea of the scope of the activities of these civic bodies when I tell you that the Chamber of Commerce is now carrying out a scheme whereby one of these civic organizations is delegated each month to have complete charge of its regular monthly forum meeting. The whole responsibility for the entire forum meeting rests upon the civic organization delegated to conduct it, and the meetings always tax the largest meeting places.

"Of these so-called civic organizations the weekly luncheon clubs stand out and appear to me to be the most influential. They are the Rotary club, the Optimist club, the Lyons club, the Exchange club, and last, but by no means least, my own club, the Kiwanis club. They represent unbiased, non-political, collective thought, and a co-operative spirit which a modern city must have. They are remoulding public opinion by applying the Golden Rule to public affairs and business dealings, and by precept and example building up the morale of the community to a point where it shall see that chicanery and falsification do not pay, and that 'man's inhumanity to man' must cease.

How to Find It

"And now, in closing, may I say that Glendale is just seven and one-half miles north of the central business district of Los Angeles, and within 20 minutes of that district by rail, and less by auto, if you are a careful driver. We are, therefore, bounded on the south by Los Angeles, the great metropolis of the southwest; on the east we are just across the arroyo and almost within hailing distance from the beautiful city of Pasadena; on the west we are just over the hill to that internationally known spot, Hollywood; and on the north we are protected by the silent majesty of the green Verdugo mountains. Surely no location could be more advantageous. Surely no location could be more beautiful, and surely no name could be more appropriate than that of 'The Jewel City,' a name given to it by an early pioneer. Spreading out at the very gateway of the great San Fernando valley, sparkling like a precious stone in that wonderful cluster of Southern California municipalities, she glitters like a gem worthy of any crown. Unconsciously, modestly, yet proudly, and with a consciousness of real worth, each reflected ray from this magnificent jewel is but an invitation to come and join us in this, 'The Fastest Growing City in America. I thank you."

Shower of Replies to Radio Bill Received

A shower of replies to the invitation of Gould H. Warren, announcing Glendale's second monthly radio program Saturday night, to write in to the Chamber of Commerce, have already been received from radio fans in many parts of Southern California. Each person writing saying he heard Glendale's program over KFI Saturday will be mailed a souvenir photograph of the butterfly float which won first prize for Glendale at the 1925 Tournament of Roses, Pasadena.

The letters virtually all expressed the writers' surprise at the size of Glendale as shown by Bert P. Woodard in his talk on "Glendale the Jewel City." Many congratulated the Chamber on the excellent program and expressed the desire that similar ones be given in future.

DEATHS--FUNERALS

Trade In Glendale

A woman was overheard to boast the other day, "We are living in Glendale now and we think it the finest place in the world." The eavesdropper could not help but wonder if this woman was helping to make Glendale "the best place in the world" or if she was merely sitting back and reaping the fruits of the efforts and endeavors of others.

The fact of the matter is, the merchants make the city what it is. Back of poor stores, sluggish business and inert merchants you will always find a stagnant community. And where there is pep and hustle among the business men there will be a community that is up and coming along other lines.

The home stores must have the patronage of home people. It is due them. It is the merchants who are keeping the city on the map. Not only are they keeping their own business up to par but they are taxed in a hundred ways for the good of the community. Glendale is a city of homes, but homes are dependent upon stores. The kind of homes that Glendale boasts are not established in communities where business is torpid. Remove the stores from Glendale or let them lower their high standards and our vaunted values in real estate would come tumbling about our ears. The convenience afforded by our splendid shopping centers contributes largely to the worth of our property and the comfort and happiness of our homes.

There are a few people in every community who assume they can do better by trading out of town. As a rule they never give the home stores a trial. They are a drag on the community. They "get by." They enjoy all the benefits that the work and the loyalty of others bring to the city without making any effort to add to the sum total of community progress. "The rain falls upon the just and the unjust." The only way to deal with these people is to make them realize that they are soldiering on the job. Often their attitude is due to thoughtlessness and not to selfishness as it would seem.

It is the duty of every citizen of Glendale to give the home stores a fair trial, at least. The stores are helping largely to make Glendale the kind of a city we are proud to call home. There are certain things you must buy. Give the home people a chance to prove that there is economy, convenience, pleasure and satisfaction in trading in Glendale.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, Jan. 19.—Spirited discussion was the keynote of the meeting called by the school board for the purpose of having property owners of the valley authorize the issuance notices calling for a bond election to add three rooms to the Montrose school and four to La Crescenta building and new quipment for both. C. E. Culberson, chairman of the school board, opened the meeting giving an outline of the aims and desires of the board in regard to the improvement of conditions for the children with the most economical expenditure of money. There are, according to figures presented at last night's meeting, 540 pupils enrolled in the two public schools of the valley exclusive of the three private schools.

There also was presented to the board for consideration a petition for a kindegarten which, if carrying the full amount of signatures, would compel the addition of a kindergarten department to both schools. Children living west of Pennsylvania avenue were considered in the plans of the board which stated it intends to add the rooms to the present buildings and if there were any excess after this, to purchase a suitable site west of Pennsylvania avenue for a school to be erected probably next year. These plans did not meet with the approval of the assembly.

Mr. Culberson asked for nominations for chairman and C. A. Haskins was named. Remarks flew thick and fast to the surprise of the board whose members did not suppose the demand for the west end school was so great. Mark S. Collins stated there were 87 families in his own subdivision of Highway Highlands with practically every family contributing one or more to the school roll and the time had come for the erection of the school to take care of these children and the greater enrollment beginning with the opening of the fall term. G. Marks followed Mr. Collins in saying there was a decided need for a westend school. Mr. Culberson stated that at the present time the board thought the wisest move was to add to the present buildings. Mr. Marks asked how the thirty-room standard could be maintained when there are at present over 108 first-grade pupils in the valley.

At this time the chairman called on Dr. Montague Cleeves who responded objecting to the use of the basement room, which has not proper ventilation facilities. Dr. Cleeves stated also that the walking to school did not injure the child as much as the shutting him up in close quarters. He recommended the board make arrangements to build rooms sufficient to take care of the young child who was starting in rather than the child finishing school, as the younger the child the more open to infection he or she is.

Harry N. Fowler followed, saying: "For once I'm going to agree with Mark, Collins. I certainly would advise the erection of a school in the west end of the valley as there are many children as present crossing these dangerous boulevards who are not able to take the proper safety precautions."

Mr. Rienhard as a member of the board spoke on the contemplated bus service the board would like to provide for the children living north of Michigan avenue but did not feel confident of getting services of careful drivers. The attempt made in this line resulted in the service offered being at so prohibitive a price they could not consider it. Harry N. Fowler stated the Verdugo City people had had demonstrations of different makes of buses and had figures ready to show the results.

Fred Anderson offered a solution to the question of more rooms a new building or transportation for the children in the westend by stating money was being spent with nothing to show for it, aside from the danger involved.

J. H. O'Leary said it was inevitable that another school would have to be erected if Mark Collins continued to induce more families to live in Highway Highlands. "There is definite need for the new school," he said, "and it should be put up in the west district."

Mr. Blandford on whose recommendation the board had decided to add to the schools this year said there were not enough first grade pupils west of Pennsylvania avenue to fill a room and if a two-room school were erected there would have to be eight grades to fill the school.

Mr. Culberson said he felt the majority of taxpayers were not in accordance with the plans of the board but if it were shown they desired a building in the westend steps would be taken toward that end. Mr. Collins stated that as long as the money being spent was that of the people's they should have a voice in the matter. Mr. Blanford answered: "The people of Highway Highlands can't vote here tonight as they are not in this district." "But they will be by the 16th of this month as that paper you have there shows," replied Mr. Collins.

Mrs. R. Q. MacDonald of the Highway Highlands asked a motion be made for adjournment until after the upper district was back into the Crescenta school district. Mr. Weaver objected to waiting as the people of the northend of the valley had taken the word of the board that it intended doing what was best and made a motion that the board be authorized to call the election.

Mrs. C. W. Angier, president of the P.-T. A. poured oil on the waters by complimenting the board on the splendid way in which they had looked after the interests of the school so far. Mrs. Angier said: "I feel that in such a matter as this we should be willing to take a risk and go the limit." Rev. Kelso asked a rising vote of thanks be given the board. Mr. Haskins said this was a more opportune time to place the bonds than was the time of bonding for the Montrose school as the Montrose State Bank was at that time the only biader while he knew personally of another company at this time willing to bid.

Thursday night, January 29, there will be another meeting to authorize the board to pass the bonds.

Members of the American Citizenship of the Women's Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Mark S. Collins to discuss Anglo Saxon Freedom. The meeting will be conducted by Mrs. Alice Singleton.

Women's handbags are made by hand in small shops of Cairo and Alexandria, Egypt, and are popular among tourists.

Last Week to Comply With New Ordinance

Barbers and food handlers are notified by Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer, that Saturday, January 24, will be the last day for examinations. City ordinances recently passed make it unlawful to work in barber shops or places where food is sold, without having health certificates. These certificates are issued from the health office, following examination.

The city health office is located at the southwest corner of Brand boulevard and Los Feliz road. Examinations will be given from 9 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock at night, without charge, Dr. Kaemmerling stated. Private physicians may also make examinations, he said. Failure to undergo examination and obtain a certificate will result in fine, according to the terms of the ordinance.

Burbank Hi-Y Club to Initiate In Glendale

Members of Burbank Hi-Y club, under the leadership of Principal F. Stilwell Moore, will be in charge of initiation of new members into Glendale Hi-Y tonight at the Glendale First Methodist church. Jack Major, president of the Burbank club, and six other officers will administer the initiatory work to twelve boys. This number brings the total membership of the local club to 63, according to Rex Kelley, executive secretary of the district.

Hold Monthly Banquet And Meeting Tonight

Officers and teachers of the First Methodist church Sunday school will hold the monthly banquet and meeting tonight at 6:30 o'clock, at the church. Dr. Ferris, pastor of the church will speak on the subject, "The Book We Teach," and Rev. H. I. Rasmus, jr., will speak on "worship in the Church School."

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

REDUCING DURING PREGNANCY AND NURSING

If a woman is overweight during pregnancy and the nursing period is it safe for her to reduce?

Yes, it is not only safe but safer than not to. The thought that a woman must eat enough for two during pregnancy and nursing is responsible for a great deal of overweight, and worse than that is responsible for illness and even deaths.

Eclampsia, or convulsions of pregnancy, is in many instances undoubtedly caused by the poisons arising from overeating plus the infiltration of fat in the tissues. We base our conclusions that this is so on the following facts:

1. Overweight. Full blooded women are more frequently affected with eclampsia than others.
2. There is less eclampsia in the summer when more fruits and vegetables and less concentrated foods are eaten than in the winter, and there is less eclampsia in the south than in the north for the same reason.
3. Obstetricians in Germany reported that during the war, when food was not so plentiful, there was a great lessening of the cases of eclampsia.

Obstetricians are now watching the weight of their patients as carefully as they watch the urine, blood pressure and other things. When there is an abnormal increase in weight the patients' diets are immediately restricted.

There is very little growth of the fetus during the first five months of pregnancy and no increase, or at the most, a very slight increase, in the food intake by the mother is necessary for the growing babe up to this time. After this about one-fifth more than the normal diet should be taken unless the physical activities are lessened. In that case a smaller increase will suffice.

A 15 to 20 pound increase in weight during pregnancy is sufficient to allow for the baby, fluids, membranes, etcetera. The frame of the baby is more or less determined by heredity but the amount of fat on the baby can, to a great extent, be controlled by the mother inasmuch as the same foods that fatten the mother will fatten the baby. Surplus weight on the mother and babe causes more difficult labor by narrowing the birth passage and increasing the size of the baby. Occasionally, in an over-fat mother, just the reverse will happen—a puny baby will result.

If a woman is overweight she is going to be benefited by reducing her weight both during pregnancy and nursing. The first five or six months the diet can be restricted enough to lose weight, and the last three or four months, if the weight is stationary, it will indicate that the reduction of fat is still going on in the prospective mother.

Naturally it is extremely important that the elements necessary for the growth of the babe in utero and the proper nourishment of the mother while nursing, be included in the diet. This will be supplied by liberal amounts of fresh vegetables and fruits, one quart of milk, some high protein foods, such as nuts, cheese or eggs. The energy foods—fats, starches and sugars—are the only things that should be cut down on.

I have had many letters from my followers who have reduced with great benefit both during pregnancy and nursing. You need not be afraid at all; in fact, you should be encouraged to reduce if necessary.

Your exercise, especially long walks with a brisk stride, and exercises involving the abdominal muscles, should be continued up to the last month or so of pregnancy. The walks can be continued beyond that time.

There may be instances where exercise is inadvisable. The pregnant woman should be under the supervision of an obstetrician, and these general rules I have given you may have to be modified to suit the particular case. You will find there is no modern obstetrician who will not tell you that a gain in weight beyond normal is harmful.

The baby takes a quart of milk each day during nursing so the mother should increase her food intake to supply this quart of milk (a quart of milk is 640 calories). Gaining in weight during nursing does not improve the milk. In fact it does just the reverse by making the mother less healthy. (We have an article on diet during pregnancy and nursing which you may have by sending the request accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope to me, care of this paper.)

Tomorrow—Freak Diets (Part 1)

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e., if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Dumplings for Lamb Stew—Sift together two cups of bread flour, four teaspoons of baking powder and one-half teaspoon of salt; work into this with the finger-tips two teaspoons of butter, then stir in one cup of sweet cold milk. Before dropping this batter onto the stew by spoonfuls, it is best to drain off a little of the stew liquid so that the dumplings will rest on the meat and potatoes rather than sink into the liquor. When cooking them put on the pot cover and let continue to cook for 12 minutes.

Creamed Corn au Gratin—Melt one-fourth cup of butter and rub into this one-half cup of flour. Gradually add one and one-half cups of sweet milk and stir till smooth. Let boil up once or twice and season to suit individual taste with salt and pepper. Add one pint of canned corn to this sauce, let boil up again, then turn all into a medium-sized baking dish. Cover with one cup of cracker crumbs and dot with one-third cup of butter. Bake for 15 minutes in a hot oven and serve at once.

Currant Cake—Cream together one cup of granulated sugar and one-half cup of butter. Add the yolks of three eggs and the whites of two, all beaten thoroughly together. Stir in one-half cup of sweet milk, and then add two cups of bread flour which has previously been sifted with a pinch of salt and three tablespoons of baking powder. Mix one cup of dried currants with an extra tablespoon of flour, then also turn these into the batter. Bake in a buttered loaf-cake pan for 40 or 45 minutes in a moderate oven.

Pineapple Cornstarch Pudding—Mix together one-fourth cup of granulated sugar and one-third cup of cornstarch powder; stir into this one-fourth cup of cold milk, then turn the mixture into two and three-fourths cups of scalded milk. Stir till smooth and thickened. Still till it has cooled slightly, fold in the stiffly-whipped whites of three eggs, then add to it one-half can of grated pineapple and mould in small individual glass cups. Wet the cups with cold water before turning the pudding into them.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

PROPERLY WAVED HAIR

Once upon a time (and it wasn't so very long ago either) a woman went into a beauty shop and asked for a wave. And she was seated in a chair, where her hair was combed out and methodically pinched and rolled and twisted all over until there was not a strand but what was turned into some sort of a curl.

Nowadays there are hundreds of waves, some of them so slight that they don't look like marcels at all, but entirely Nature's doing. Some heads look well with an all-over marcel. Perhaps yours does. If not, here are some suggestions for variations:

If you can part your hair in the middle, try it, for it is a quaint, attractive and unusual style. If it is too severe, have two large strands on each side of the front rolled or loosely marcelled. This will give an irregular line that will perhaps be more becoming than any way you could dress your hair. The fact that the rest of the hair toward the knot is straight does not look unnatural.

Are you bobbed or shingled? The merest wave can be put in about three inches above the ends of the hair and those ends turned under a little. Expertly done it looks as though hair with a loose, real marcel had been cut. Two lines of waving on each side is about as elaborate as a "bob" can stand, more makes it look frizzy.

Do you want to look like a daguerreotype of your grandmother, but with short hair? Part your "bob" in the middle and train the fringe to grow back on each side so that the part comes straight to the forehead. Pull the hair forward over each ear, and keep it fluffy. You achieve quaintness and smartness in doing this, which is an unusual combination.

But remember that anyone can be marcelled for 50c. Hence straight hair is really the smartest if you can wear it.

Young Mother:—Measles are contagious so there should be a quarantine. It is possible to have measles three times but each attack will be lighter than the previous.

Ruth D. C.:—Use pumice stone to remove some of the callous spots on your hands and keep the skin constantly softened with any of the honey and almond lotions or a cream. After immersing the hands in hot water for a time, run cool or very cold water over them as this will close the pores and keep skin firm and free from stains. A little lemon juice rubbed into bad stains will usually bleach them.

Tomorrow—Answered Letters

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. FORUM DINNER IS SET FOR TONIGHT

Members of City Council to Act as Hosts; Surprise Program Planned

More than 275 persons will attend the monthly forum dinner of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse tonight. Reservations for this number have been made, according to Secretary Howard I. Wood. The record ticket sale was carried on during last week by members of the City Council, under whose auspices the program for tonight's affair has been arranged.

President D. H. Smith of the chamber will turn the gavel over to Mayor Spencer Robinson as soon as the diners are seated in the big club banquet hall. Beside the features already announced, the program will be interspersed with a number of surprises, Mayor Robinson has promised. James W. Foley, poet and humorist, will be the main speaker of the evening.

An interesting part of the program will be motion pictures of construction work on the new Glendale outfall sewer system, shown by Chester A. Smith, Joseph E. Josephs, noted tenor, will be heard in a group of songs. During the dinner music will be furnished by a special orchestra, secured by the City Council. Introduction of the Chamber of Commerce directors will be made by President Smith. Mayor Robinson will present the other members of the City Council. The dinner will start promptly at 6:30 o'clock. Councilman C. E. Kimlin is chairman of the program committee.

Warren Reports Deals Of $47,000 New Year

The E. G. Warren Realty Co., with offices at 300½ South Brand boulevard and 1330 East Colorado boulevard, reports $47,000 worth of deals since January 1. Included among the sales are three lots in West Burbank Center tract, owned by E. G. Warren; a five-room furnished house on the corner of Tenth and Angeleno streets, in Burbank; a 100-foot residence lot in Montrose, and an exchange involving $35,000, handled through the Colorado boulevard office, of which Gould H. Warren is manager.

Mr. Warren handled both sides of the deal, which included the purchase of Murphy's garage at 537 East Colorado by Frank Pitcher of North Dakota. Mr. Pitcher gave in exchange three lots in Glendale and a parcel in Montrose valued at $12,000. Mr. and Mrs. L. D. McKeen, well known in Glendale, and former owners of the garage, plan to build at once on the vacant lots that they took in on the deal.

Mr. Warren says that he believes the long-heralded upturn in real estate activity is at hand, and all wise investors will take advantage of the present opportunities to secure Glendale property.

Male Chorus to Sing At Luncheon Meeting

With the appearance of the Rhondda Welsh male chorus on the program for Thursday noon, the largest attendance since the organization of the club is anticipated at the meeting of the Greater Glendale Luncheon club this week. George F. Orgibet, chairman, has arranged to accommodate 200 business and professional people at the luncheon at the Masonic temple at 12:15 o'clock.

The famed Welsh singers will entertain the Chamber of Commerce Luncheon club through the courtesy of Glendale Kiwanians, who will attend in a body. The singers are scheduled for a concert under the auspices of the Kiwanis club at the Broadway High school Thursday night. They will present an entirely different program at the luncheon, however.

President Frank L. Fox of the Kiwanis club, also vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, will wield the gavel during the meeting. There will be other features besides the concert by the Rhondda singers. Community singing will be led by D. Ripley Jackson, Glendale postmaster.

Large Crowd Enjoys Circus at Airport

A crowd estimated at 5000 persons were thrilled by the aerial circus presented yesterday afternoon at the Glendale Airport under the direction of W. B. Kinner, airplane manufacturer. Clyde Getchell, wing-walker, Al Gilhousen and M. L. Fix, all operating Kinner-made airplanes, performed death-defying feats above the airport. Another circus is planned for a future date.

Dean Burt to Speak At Realty Board Meet

Dean Burt of Occidental college will be the main speaker at the Wednesday luncheon of the Glendale Realty board at the Egyptian Village cafe. The Occidental dean, a speaker of prominence, has been secured for the occasion by Arthur H. Voelker, chairman of the program committee of the board.

DR. OTEY SAYS:

There are 310 mechanical movements known to mechanics today; and all of these find representation in the human body. Here are all the bars, levers, joints, pulleys, wedges, pumps, pipes, spirals, eccentrics, wheels and axles, ball and socket movements beams, girders, trusses, buffers, arches, cables, columns and supports known to science. The osteopath believes that if all of these parts are kept in good mechanical working order by the aid of a capable anatomical engineer, good health will persist for a decade or two after the body would ordinarily have gone to the scrap heap.

Osteopathy is man's agent to help Nature make you well and keep you fit. Do not leave so important a matter as your health to chance.

Many are first attracted to Osteopathy by its rapid cures, its instant relief and freedom from "after effects," but they become real osteopathic fans because, when they witness or experience its lasting cures and its efficiency in preventing disease and premature old age and its marvelous effects in increasing efficiency, both physical and mental.

If you would have the autumn of your life lengthened into a long and glorious Indian Summer, phone us for appointment, Glendale 2201.

The Wrath To Come

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM, Copyright 1924

CHAPTER XXIV

"I'll make a report in a few days," Poynter promised.

They descended to their taxi and drove away. Both men were silent. Grant was filled with a sense of horror. The sordidness of the little scene, its atmosphere of tragedy, its cruelty, had brought the tears into his eyes.

"If ever I get my fingers on the throat of that brute Itash," he muttered, "I think that I shall kill him. What did you think of the matter, Hodson?"

"I think that Poynter was entirely right," was the confident reply. "And every moment I am coming round to your point of view. I am beginning to believe that this conspiracy really exists."

"You're coming in?" Grant enquired, as the taxi drove up to the Great Central Hotel.

Hodson shook his head.

"You'll see nothing of me for twenty-four hours or so," he announced. "I am going to work in directions you can't approach. You and Stoneham go on with your propaganda, even though the thing looks hopeless. Let your friends think that's all you've got to depend upon. Don't go away from your rooms for more than an hour or two without leaving word where you're to be found. There may be some big things doing when I get started."

Grant made his way through the main lobby. On one side was the supper and dancing room, and, as he passed the entrance, he came face to face with Itash, who had apparently just arrived. A few yards away Yvonne was handing her cloak to the attendant. Grant hesitated for a moment and then came to a standstill, affecting not to notice Itash's outstretched hand.

"I have a piece of information which may be of interest to you, Count Itash," he said.

"You are very kind to trouble," was the studiously courteous reply.

"I have just come from a very sorry apartment in a squalid part of the city," Grant went on. "I was summoned there to identify the dead body of Mademoiselle Cleo."

If Itash felt anything, he effectually concealed it. He passed his fingers over his sleek black hair and bowed slightly. A gesture of his hand kept Yvonne from advancing.

"This is very terrible news," he said. "I had noticed that the young lady seemed to be in a very depressed state. It is to be feared, perhaps, that she took her own life?"

"Nothing of the sort," Grant announced bluntly. "She was murdered."

Then, for the first time, Itash showed signs of feeling. His eyes glittered, his lips seemed to grow tight against his teeth.

"That is very terrible," he confessed. "In Japan we do not think so much of suicide. One leaves life when one is tired. But a murder is a terrible thing. Who, in this country, would dream of murdering poor Cleo? She had no money, but little jewelry."

"She might have had something more valuable than either," Grant observed.

Itash shook his head.

"Oh, no," he murmured. "I know what you mean, but those were fancies of hers. If she has ever imagined that she heard anything from my lips of import she has been mistaken. My country has no secrets, neither have I. I grieve for your sad news, Mr. Slattery. I thank you."

"You are dancing?" Grant enquired.

"I am dancing," Itash acknowledged, offering his arm to Yvonne. "This is the last night in New York of my friend, Mademoiselle Yvonne. She is summoned back to Paris and sails tomorrow."

Grant remained perfectly immovable, regardless alike of Yvonne's proffered greeting and Itash's low bow. They passed together into the ballroom. Grant watched them with a strange inexplicable disgust, a disgust which seemed to be born of his passionate but silent anger. In his mind he saw Cleo followed home from the Police Court to her dreary apartment, saw her walk into the little chamber of death, into the toils prepared for her. She was, after all, very young, and she loved. She was still lying in that little chamber, with a sheet over her face—and Itash danced.

The next morning there were no sensational headlines, even in the most melodramatic of the newspapers. In two or three of them was a short paragraph, headed:

"SAD SUICIDE OF A FRENCH DANSEUSE"

Not a single newspaper gave more than a few lines to a description of the event. The New York was perhaps the fullest. It told how, after being very leniently treated by the judge at the Police Court, she had been discharged, on a promise to leave the country within a week, and not to molest Mademoiselle Yvonne again. She had then, the paragraph continued, apparently gone straight back to her apartments, had locked the door, turned on the gas, attached a piece of rubber to the jet, fastened the window, and lain down to die. A more determined suicide, the police reported, they had very seldom come across.

It was three whole days before Grant saw anything more of Hodson. Then the latter appeared in his room about seven o'clock in the evening and demanded a cocktail.

"Glad you've remembered my existence," Grant grumbled good-humoredly, as he gave the necessary orders. "Stoneham and I have been pegging away. There are heaps of things I want to know about."

Hodson nodded.

"There are big events close at hand," he announced. "A great deal of what you suspect is true, with a few other trifles thrown in. Can you go to England tomorrow?"

"England!" Grant exclaimed. "Why, the Limitation of Armaments Conference starts here in a little over a fortnight."

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"Love Laughs" is the new production of the Dobinson Players, opening at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre Wednesday. It is said to be one of the best comedies these popular players have yet produced. On Wednesday and Thursday nights the play will be sponsored by the Glendale Commandery, No. 53, Knights Templar, to raise funds wherewith to send their crack drill team to the terennial encampment at Seattle, Washington, in July.

THE T. D. & L.

Dante's "Inferno" continues at the T. D. & L. Theatre.

THE GLENDALE

Al Christie's "Reckless Romance" continues at the Glendale Theatre.

THE GATEWAY

Through such signs as these was the only way the Paramount company on location in Texas had of warning possible passers-by of danger to life and limb.

The signs were posted around a ten mile area out on the prairie to prevent possible injury to outsiders in a huge stampede of long-horn cattle in the filming of the Paramount picture, "North of 36."

In the production, directed by Irvin Willat, which was written by Emerson Hough, author of "The Covered Wagon," a tremendous pioneer cattle drive takes place from the grazing lands in the south to the railroads in the north. It is this drive which forms the backbone of the story and it is during the journey that the future of the Lone Star state is decided; if the caravan reaches the north, Texas will be the wealthiest state in the Union; if it fails, it will be bankrupt.

Featured in the cast of "North of 36" now showing at the Gateway theatre today and Tuesday, are Ernest Torrence, Lois Wilson, the "Covered Wagon" girl, and Noah Beery.

The cattle stampedes (there are two of them in the picture) are genuine thrills—and but two of many big scenes in the production.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S PING PONG

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, who watched Uncle Wiggily hopping up the steps of the hollow stump bungalow one afternoon, saw a package under the paw of the bunny gentleman.

"Is that the loaf of bread I asked you to bring?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Bread? Good night! I forgot all about the bread!" cried Mr. Longears. "This is a set of ping pong I bought so you and I could have fun."

"Ping pong!" sqeaked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "What in the world is ping pong? If it's a new cross word puzzle you can just take it right back where you got it! I'm half crazy over the last puzzle! I can't think of a seven letter word meaning to come in out of the rain."

"Never mind about cross word puzzles!" chuckled the bunny. "This is more fun. Clear off the dining room table. I'll set up the ping pong set and we'll play."

"Play what?" Nurse Jane wanted to know.

"The game—that's what ping pong is—a game, like tennis," explained Mr. Longears. "You bat a little celluloid ball to and fro across a net on the table with wooden things like pancake turners. Come on, it's lots of fun."

"But the table is all set ready for supper!" objected Nurse Jane.

"No matter! We'll play ping pong first and eat afterward!" said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll help take the things off."

Before Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy could stop him, Mr. Longears had cleared the dining room table. Across the middle he stretched a little net, like those used in lawn tennis. Then he gave Nurse Jane a wooden pancake turner with a short handle, and took one himself. Next Uncle Wiggily bounced a small, white celluloid ball on the table and batted it across the net to Nurse Jane.

"Ping!" went the ball as it bounced.

"Bat it back to me!" cried the bunny.

Nurse Jane hit it with her wooden paddle.

"Pong!" went the ball.

That's how the game gets its name, explained the rabbit. "The balls make the sound of ping pong. Now come on—bat the ball faster."

Nurse Jane had played tennis when she was a mouse instead of a muskrat, and she did quite well. Once she hit the ball so hard that it banged Uncle Wiggily on the nose. But the ball being as light as a feather, didn't hurt the bunny.

"Look out!" cried Nurse Jane, as Uncle Wiggily, in sending the ball back to her side of the table, hit it such a whack that it went on the floor. And in picking it up Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy bumped her head under the table.

"But I don't care!" she laughed, "Ping pong is fun!"

"I'm glad you like it!" shouted Uncle Wiggily. "We'll play it every night! I'm glad you like it!"

"Well, I know what I like—ears!" suddenly cried a voice in the room, and there stood the Bob Cat. Uncle Wiggily was so excited over his new ping pong game that he had forgotten to lock the door when he came in. So the Bob Cat entered. "I'm going to have ears!" he cried.

"Ping!" squeaked Nurse Jane, and she hit the Bob Cat hard on his nose with her wooden paddle.

"Pong!" shouted Uncle Wiggily, as he hit the bad chap on the nose with his wooden paddle.

"Oh, I guess I don't want any ears!" howled the Bob Cat. Then holding his paws over his sore nose, out of the bungalow he ran, taking with him his silly little tail. Then Mr. Longears and Nurse Jane played ping pong and had jolly fun.

And if the jelly bean doesn't try to jump over the apple sauce and splash molasses on the gold fish, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the woodpecker.

LEGION WOMEN TO INSTALL TONIGHT

Public Ceremony to Be Held At Egyptian Village; Dancing to Follow

Public ceremonies will mark the installation of officers of the American Legion Auxiliary of Glendale Post, No. 127, which will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Egyptian Village, 133 North Brand boulevard. The officers who will be installed are: Mrs. E. W. Gilliland, president; Mrs. Nellie Snow Hyer, first vice-president; Mrs. L. T. Rowley, second vice-president; Mrs. James F. McBryde, secretary; Mrs. George L. Kaeding, treasurer; Mrs. Virgil Burris, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Charles Nagle, musician; Mrs. G. H. Rowe, Mrs. H. C. Smith, Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, Mrs. W. B. Kelly and Mrs. G. Edwin Murphy, executive board.

Mrs. Carol Marks, of Los Angeles, past department president, will be the installing officer and will be assisted by Mrs. Grace Eckert of Los Angeles, installing sergeant-at-arms. The program will include entertainment features and dancing. H. H. Harris, commander of Los Angeles Post No. 8, American Legion, will address the audience on "The Work of the American Legion and Auxiliary as Outlined by National Commander Drain."

Eleanor Marek, Adrienne McDade and Winifred Walker, pupils of Pearl Keller, will appear in costume in a group of four solo dances. A. E. Baron, commander of the Verdugo Hills Post, American Legion, and a violinist, will present violin selections, accompanied by Mrs. Baron. Following the installation the program will be presented after which dancing will be enjoyed and refreshments served. Those who have not obtained tickets will be able to get them at the door.

All arrangements for the installation ceremonies of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held tonight as scheduled. Mrs. George L. Kaeding, Mrs. G. Edwin Murphy and Mrs. G. H. Rowe have charge of the decorations, flags and flowers. Mrs. H. C. Smith and Mrs. Virgil Burris have charge of the tickets.

Robert A. Trow, Welch & Co. Gives Some Advice on Sound Ventures

Note—Mr. Trow is considered an authority on financial matters and his articles are used extensively by the Babson Institute and by leading bond houses. As manager of the Glendale branch of James M. Welch & Co., 315 Security building, his services are at the disposal of Glendale investors.

By ROBERT A. TROW
Of James M. Welch & Co.

Hundreds of articles have been written by the most learned of men on the various methods for the individual investor. The greatest brains of the world have told the individual how to save his money, but why limit it to the individual? Is the case any different with the firm?

Business men of varying degrees of greatness are continually asking, "Why should I buy bonds which only return me from 4½ per cent to 6½ per cent when the same money placed in my own active business will return me more?

Why, then, pay for insurance if money thus spent would yield more in trading? There should be financial insurance begun, and carried on in the form of a business reserve to guard against sudden emergencies. The business man who puts all the firm's earnings into real estate, brick walls, machinery and merchandise has a bad habit, and the sooner it is broken the better for him and his dependents. It is only by laying aside a reserve that this type of man can overcome the lack of quick assets.

Placing of Profits

Putting all one's profits back into the business is still looked upon by many as the best policy. True, this is practiced with good results by some, but they are exceptions. It is certainly true that such a policy has many weak points, and the keen-minded business man of today is quickly realizing them.

What happens in times of general depression and panic? Most men of experience have walked the floor in times of tight money, and having passed through one such experience, none like to contemplate a recurrence of similar trials. True enough, commercial depressions are only temporary and it is only a question of being able to weather the storm.

Who is best able to weather the storm—the firm that has put all its surplus funds into the business or the one that was far-sighted enough to realize the necessity for a surplus invested outside its own business and who constantly maintains a reserve to be drawn upon only in times of financial stress?

The sharp distinctions between brick and mortar assets and high grade marketable securities in reserve should be given the consideration that is due it by every business man, large and small.

General conditions are never absolutely assured, and that is becoming more apparent every year especially since these United States are leading the world in finance and industry.

Failure in business does not always come through one's own mistakes by any means. In times of depression, which are inevitable under the existing commercial and industrial system, thousands of business men see the profits of years wiped out almost overnight, and even their principal capital can ofttimes only be saved by seemingly superhuman efforts.

Assets and Liabilities

In bankrupty cases on record a large majority of firms had assets far in excess of their liabilities. In these cases it was not altogether lack of earnings that caused them to fail, but simply the fact that they were unable to convert their so-called assets into enough cash to meet the arising contingency. This is not theory; it is fact.

Many a firm has irreparably injured its standing and credit, to say nothing of the numbers that have gone under just because their money was invested where it could not be quickly obtained (from a reserve) when needed.

The statements of firms in which outside investments in good securities are listed as part of their assets will always attract the favorable attention of the banker, and when money rates are low the firm having an outside investment account can borrow on its bonds very advantageously to discount bills, very often making the difference between 6 and 4 per cent.

Trade Opportunities

Then again, you may see at another time opportunities to buy goods at a large discount for cash: Of course this generally happens when money is tight and credit is strained; you then are carrying your full line at your bank, and it is practically impossible to float commercial paper.

At such times your bonds are well worth their cost for you can take them to your bank, or any bank for that matter, and borrow 80 per cent of their market value, and then buy up your bargain.

The truth is here, and sooner or later this principle of investing surplus firm funds outside of the business will be adopted and diligently exercised by every thinking executive, for the reason is sound and the practice over a series of years is bound to bring the firm permanency and stability, which can never be enjoyed under the old idea.

FOR LIGHTING CAR

A patent has been issued for a system of automobile lighting by lamps under the mudgards so that the entire form of a car is outlined for protection at night.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

There are no less than one thousand men (and women) endeavoring to earn a living expressing views in columns similar to this in the newspapers of the United States. They necessarily express their own views, as it is about the only sacred place in most publications.

If the editors do not like the product of a columnist, he is soon relieved of his job, or that which is offensive eliminated. But suppose nothing offensive were written? Suppose only innocuous matter appeared? Would the readers continue to read this or any other comment?

Some might waste their time. More would not.

So it is that the columnist goes on his way, stepping on lots of people's toes, being criticized, becoming more opinionated and cynical day by day until he reaches the brink of oblivion and settles back to smoke his pipe of peace in some menial position.

Henry Watterson, the writer believes, was one of the most vindictive writers of his day. What he would not say about people and issues and political parties wasn't worth printing, for he said everything, in every ounce of language at his command.

Chester Rowell, one of widest read editorial writers in California, also is known for his cutting phrases with which few agree, perhaps, but they read them with relish.

If it is possible for a person to get "negative publicity" in the form of criticism, he may be assured that which he writes is being read. Perhaps this writer has not used sufficiently strong language to attract the attention of the Literary Digest.

As far as one person's views are concerned they usually are as good as the next, depending entirely upon the viewpoint. With a wide vision one may say things which do not coincide with those looking through a needle's eye.

It is said an elephant suffers from distorted vision. A mouse looks to an elephant as large as a lion. The elephant, therefore, fears the mouse more than larger animals with which it is friendly.

Many men have this same distorted vision. They fear the mouse more because it looks larger than it really is. And if they would only remember we all are only ants running around our little sand hills together these disturbed minds would realize that, after all is said and done, our lives and thoughts and activities actually amount to very little.

Covering the Legislature at Sacramento the writer takes that viewpoint, at times, of the importance with which some cloak their serious activity. Ha! Ha! They are but Jesters in the theatre of events. They are but Puppets of human nature. Truly, "all the world's a stage."

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, Jan. 19.—Unanimous indorsement of the proposed $1,200,000 bond issue for the Glendale Union High school district, which, among other things, will provide a high school for the Tujunga-Sunland district and recommendation of a ten-acre tract for the proposed institution was made at the January meeting of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce.

A prize, to be designated by judges to be appointed by the chamber of commerce, will be offered for the best design for a float to be entered in the New Year floral parade at Pasadena next year. A vote of thanks was given the chamber committee which supervised the participation of Tujunga's prize winning float last New Year's day. The committee was composed of A. C. Stover, J. O'B. Bodkin and C. H. Conway. The vote of thanks also included George Harris, designer of the float; Harry Zachau, in charge of collecting funds for it, which amounted to $154.65; Steve Dunbar, driver, and all others who participated in the construction and decoration of the float, which won sixth prize in the civic entries.

A motion was passed recommending the acquisition of any suitable site near Los Angeles for the location of the southern branch of the University of California, providing it does not involve the separation of the teacher's college from the university. A two-column debate and discussion on subjects ranging from zoning ordinances to incorporation of a city of the sixth class or annexation to Los Angeles resulted in no definite action being taken on any of them.

Mrs. Laura Lee Sweet has been at the Glendale sanitarium recovering from an operation and members of the Sagebrushers Art club, of which she is the leading spirit, expressed their felicitations at the last meeting of the club.

Mrs. Frances B. Hamblin of Boston is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sumner H. Adams of Summit avenue. Mrs. Hamblin is a pianist enjoying a wide reputation in musical circles and will be invited to play for local audiences while stopping in Tujunga.

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Franks of Omaha, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mark White over the holidays, have gone to Long Beach where they expect to remain for some time.

Harold Masser was honored by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Masser, with a party on the occasion of his eighteenth birthday, held at the Masser home, 352 Los Angeles street. Among the guests were: Norman Thorsen, Fred and Albert Wells, Howard Rich, Jerry Fasoli, Jack Johnson, Ed O'Shaunnessy.

GRAIN SUPPLY SURPASSES ALL MARKS

Harvest In 1924 Exceeded 1923 Crops by More Than Two Billions

By A. E. GARVIN
For International News Service.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Wheat, corn, oats, rye and barley, the five major grains of the United States, recorded a value of $2,226,000,000 more in 1924 than in 1923, according to a report issued by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation, of Chicago, based on government statistics for the year.

If the farmers could have sold all their grain at a national market on the first day of the year, they would have gone home richer by $5,868,000,000, the report states.

Figures compiled several months ago showed that the farmers averaged an increase in wealth of $35 for the year, basing the compilation on all farm products. Today the recent rapid increase in the market price of grains has boosted the average to $346, according to the report

Wheat Increased

Wheat showed an increase in value of $800,000,000 over 1923. The yield per acre was 16.1, as against 13.4 in 1923, although 3,450,000 less acres were planted to this grain during 1924. Corn, on the other hand, was planted over more ground and yielded a smaller crop than last year. The valuation increase for the year just passed was $876,000,000, on an additional weath for the farmer of $136.

Oats, rye and barley also show substantial gains in value for 1924 over 1923. Oats and rye register an increase of $415,000,000 and $34,000,000, respectively, while barley, showing a smaller yield of 9,816,000 bushels under 1923, has an increased total valuation of $72,000,000.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Jan. 19.—This city will entertain representatives from the nations of the earth, some day within the next fortnight, announces Manager J. W. Charleville of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Charleville has received a letter from A. B. Boswell of the extension department, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, informing him that Los Angeles consuls have been invited to go on a series of tours of the metropolitan area, and that Burbank is among the points that will be covered.

The proposed tour will begin with the Vernon industrial district, starting Wednesday, January 21, followed up by additional trips on Wednesday of each week, until all of the industrial sections have been visited. According to Mr. Boswell's letter, the party expects to visit the Burbank section within the next two weeks.

The Burbank chamber is requested to provide a light luncheon for the visitors at the noon hour and also to furnish Mr. Boswell with a list of the city's manufacturing establishments and the permission of the managers for the party of consuls and their escorts to inspect the respective institutions.

The annual report of the Burbank fire department, made public by Chief Davis, reveals that there were a total of sixty-five calls during the year, twenty-five of which are classed as "unimportant." June was the heaviest month, with twelve calls. July saw the department called out but once. The longest run of the year was to Dundee and the shortest was to a truck fire in front of the fire station, the report shows.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Blood of 639 Verdugo avenue are entertaining old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bruchez of Tujunga, for a few days.

ALUMNI KICK ON COACH SELECTION

Man Out of Game 20 Years To Be Given Charge at Oregon University

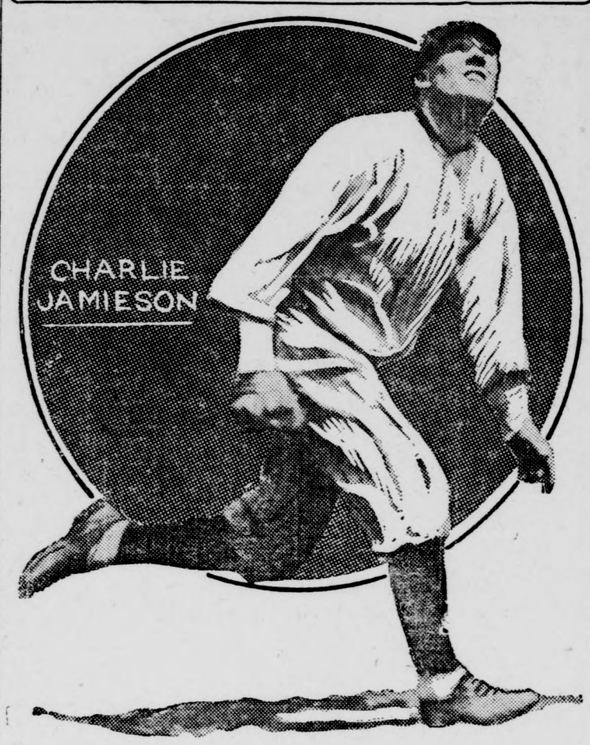
PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 19.—Stunned by reports from Eugene that Dick Smith, attorney, who has been away from active coaching for twenty years, is to be made head football coach at Oregon, Portland alumni of the state university today were laying plans to urge selection of a man thoroughly versed. The sentiment generally crystallized in favor of Edward J. "Slip" Madigan, brilliant mentor of St. Mary's college at Oakland, Cal. Oregon fans who saw Madigan's teams perform here the past two years acclaim him as one of the coming coaches in the country.

A meeting of the Oregon athletic committee was scheduled to take place late this afternoon. It is belived the committee will be urged by Virgil Earl, director of athletics, to name Smith as coach. Since 1904, when Smith coached Oregon, he has not coached a collegt football team, other than assisting at times at Oregon in "hopping up" the varsity for important games.

Portland alumni assembled today in small groups and were outspoken in their convictions that Oregon must secure a coach who thoroughly understands the intricate modern game if the state university is to successfully compete with California, Stanford and other coast conference teams. They point to Madigan or Nibs Price at California as men who have the class to cope with rival coaches.

He Steps Out From Under

CHARLIE JAMIESON was "thrown in to boot" in a trade with the Cleveland Indians back in 1919, and today he is rated as one of the best sluggers and fielders on Speaker's roster.



By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News

When Manager Tris Speaker of the Indians blew into Cleveland the other day for a final conference with President Barnard regarding the team before the players begin to trek south, the roster of the club showed just four members of the great team of 1920 waiting for the word to start another year's grind with the team.

These four were Pitcher Uhle, Outfielder Charley Jamieson, Shortstop Joey Sewell and Manager Spoke himself. True, George Burns, who played first part of the time in 1920, is now with the club, but he departed for other fields a couple of years ago and later rejoined the team.

Of the four who have stood the test of time Jamieson's case is the most interesting. In 1919 the Indians and Athletics cooked up a trade. The Indians wanted to dispose of Bobby Roth. The Athletics wanted a slugger. They agreed to trade Larry Gardner and Pitcher Elmer Myers for him. The Indians were hesitant. So Connie Mack volunteered to throw in "Outfielder Charley Jamieson to boot."

Jamieson had hit for an average of .202 in 1918. His fielding was fair. He had never hit .300 with the Mackmen, or with the Washington club, where he got his big league start. He seemed destined to slip out shortly.

Speaker gave him a chance to show his stuff. In twenty-six games in 1919 Jamie hit. 353. The next year, playing 108 games in the club's drive to the pennant and world's championship, Jamie hit .319 and his fielding was one of the greatest bits of gardening in the league.

He has hit over .300 ever since and now ranks as one of the best ball hawks in the business.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—With the retirement of Benny Leonard from pugilism, one of the best big-money fighters of the game is lost to promoters. The other big-money producer, Jack Dempsey is not unlikely to retire within the year.

The financial outlook for boxing, therefore, is hardly better than that of a jerk water railroad that is losing its best engines and has no way of replacing them.

Leonard says he is retiring in deference to the fears of his mother, whose apprehensions for his safety when he enters the ring are impairing her health.

It is true that Benny's mother always worried a great deal when he was in battle, but in the past year Benny has not given her much cause for worry in this respect, as the fact is that he has had but one fight and that with a man well below his class, Pal Moran.

The truth is that Leonard outgrew the lightweight class some time ago. The process of taking off weight in preparing for a bout has been injurious to his health. It is doubted if there would now be any possibility of his making the lightweight limit with strength enough left to climb into the ring.

With Benny out of the game, the sport has lost one of its best representatives. He has always been a credit to boxing, a clean living young man, who devoted most of his time to his family. He began his career as a light hitter, but developed a punch and finally became one of the hardest hitters the lightweight class every had.

Orientals Beat Birth Of Whites In Fresno

FRESNO, Jan. 19.—Increase of population during 1924 in this city was greater among Orientals in proportion to the number of deaths than among the white race, it was disclosed today in a survey of vital statistics compiled by the Fresno Board of Health.

The birth rate among the yellow races was in the ratio of 2.65 for each recorded death. There were 180 births and 68 deaths among Orientals and 1,266 births and 522 deaths among Caucasians.

Text From Proverbs New Thought Sermon

A selection from Proverbs read from a Jewish translation was used by the leader, Mrs. Adaline Becker, to open her discourse Sunday morning at the New Thought Center. This translation differs slightly from the standard version. She said:

"Man, naturally, is concerned with his own progress, with his own best good. His place in the evolutionary scheme is indicated by his desires and his methods of attaining them. Is he trying merely through an intellectual perception of underlying natural law to obtain a multiplicity of material things or has he progressed until he puts the law into operation only to obtain that which is necessary to his development? It is the difference between getting and being. The law of freedom from limitation is used but in the second instance it is the means, in the first the end.

Legion Launches Drive To Stamp Out Plague

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—Co-operating with the United States health service and the United States department of agriculture, the American Legion, through its state commander, Nathan F. Coombs, has called upon the 300 posts in California to begin a "drive" for the extermination of the ground squirrel. This animal, according to Surgeon General Cumming, is a carrier of bubonic and pneumonic plague, and demands continuous vigilance on the part of the government and local authorities.

Enormous losses are annually experienced by the farmer from the ground squirrel, as well as from rats and mice. All Legion posts are expected to organize at once in assisting the authorities in this work.

BASEBALL

Burbank upset Van Nuys chance to cop the San Fernando Valley league pennant yesterday when Manager Bacom's crew walloped the league leaders, 4 to 3, at Van Nuys. Three runs in the seventh, when O'Connell weakened, gave the Burbank team the game. Conkwright did mound duty for Burbank.

Burbank also annexed Saturday's game against A. J. Bayer's team, 11 to 8, gathering seventeen hits off Huffaker. Ruckman pitched for Burbank and was touched for twelve hits.

Cecil Cruze, who hurled the old Glendale White Sox to numerous victories in the heyday of the club, proved invincible against Bellflower yesterday and Watts won, 5 to 1. Cruze fanned eight, got a triple, double, single and sacrifice hit.

San Fernando took a place in the possibility column yesterday when Walter Heidler hurled the team to a 2-to-1 victory over Owensmouth. The winning run came in the tenth inning, after San Fernando had tied the count in the ninth.

Lankershim further complicated the San Fernando valley loop race yesterday by winning from Gene Murphy's crew, 10 to 6. Jensen, pitching for the winners, struck out twelve.

One run in the ninth inning tied the count for Pasadena yesterday against Sawtelle, and the game was called on account of darkness with the score three all. Fred Pfahler and Jimmy Reese, two former Glendale players, figured in three double plays for Pasadena. Barnaba had the best of the pitchers' duel, fanning eight, while Ross, Pasadena hurler, fanned only one, although he held Sawtelle to six hits.

Jem Driscoll Facing Life's Hardest Battle

CARDIFF, Wales, Jan. 19.—Jem Driscoll, one of the greatest featherweight boxers of all times, is critically ill with pneumonia, it developed here today. The former pugilist is fighting the greatest battle of his career, a fight for his life, and the attending physicians are grave over the outcome.

Driscoll, having established himself as the greatest boxer in Europe, went to America a decade or more ago and quickly demonstrated his superiority over men in his class there. Although past his prime at the time he defeated some of the best men in the lightweight and featherweight classes, including Abe Attell, then featherweight champion. It was not a title fight, however.

Fifteen Races Remain On Nurmi's Schedule

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Fifteen races are on Paavo Nurmi's "future book" for the remainder of the indoor track campaign, it developed today. Most of them are in and around New York, the Finn being averse to traveling far form the Atlantic seaboard.

In addition to tentative engagements on local tracks, Nurmi's list includes possible appearances at the Boston A. A. games January 31; Military games at Buffalo, February 12; American Legion games, Portland, Maine, February 13; Georgetown games, Washington, D. C., February 21; Johns Hopkins games, Baltimore, February 23, and the national championships at Louisville, February 28.

GLENDALE CASEYS BEAT SANTA ANA

Win Trip North by 24 to 4 Victory Over Runners Up In League

Glendale Caseys will represent Southern California in the annual North vs. South struggle for the state title in the K. C. league. The local team won the right to make the northern trip by defeating Santa Ana Caseys at Santa Ana yesterday, 24 to 4, giving the locals a clean slate for the entire season.

A victory for Santa Ana yesterday would have thrown the two teams into a tie for first place with the deciding game to be played later. The local players found Gaspar and Kelly to their liking and pounded out twenty-one hits, while "Chief" Butler held the Santa Ana crew to eleven bingles, one of them going for a homer.

The sensational fielding of H. Doll at shortstop kept the Santa Ana score low. Myers rapped out two triples, while O'Shea, Cryan, Travis and Dailey connected for doubles. Butler was the only Glendalian who failed to collect a hit. The sccre:

University of Oregon Is Looking for Coach

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 19.—The University of Oregon was today in the field to secure one of the best available football coaches in the country. Joe Maddock, pupil of "Hurry Up" Yost, who last year took a green Oregon squad and turned out a creditable eleven, has announced that his business at Idaho Falls, Idaho, will not permit him to return on an all-year basis. He asked that he not be considered for re-election.

The executive council of the student body, which employs the football coach, is determined to get a man who can take full charge of athletics here during the entire school year.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Pitcher Glazner of the Philadelphia Nationals is on the market, for anyone who comes along with a proper offer for him.

Glazner started off with the Pittsburgh Pirates three years ago as if he meant to establish himself among the top notchers of the National league. In 1921 he tied with Babe Adams for the league leadership of winners. The next year, however, he did not do so well, and later Pittsburgh transferred him. The Phillies were glad enough to get Glazner, as they were in need of hurlers who looked as good as Glazner did.

Since he has been with Philadelphia Glazner has not had the support on the field that he did in Pittsburgh and his pitching disposition has been spoiled. He is of the type that likes to be a winner. If the Phillies could jump from seventh place to the top in 1925, Glazner might again become ranking pitcher in his league.

But, as the Phillies probably will do nothing of the kind, Manager Fletcher would not be averse to a switch by which Glazner could get to a city in which he would be better satisfied, provided he got in exchange a pitcher who would do a little good pitching for the Phillies. Fletcher says the only thing the matter with Glazner is that he is headstrong.

The new policy of the Phillies is to get as much young material as they can command. The club is not going to be satisfied with the men it has now, and even Williams, the home run hitter can be had if a team will give what the Phillies think he is worth.

No batter in the National league has bombarded the right field fence in Philadelphia with such a continuous fire of drives as has Williams since he left Chicago for the east. At various times other clubs have been on the verge of making trades for him, but he always has been retained in spite of suggested dickers. Now, however, it looks as if the young-blood policy would result in his transfer.

O'Neal, a pitcher Philadelphia is trying to obtain from Beaumont, Texas, but over whom there is a dispute, is another excellent youngster who may have a future with the Phillies if he gets off to a good start. One of the scouts who saw him in 1924 reports that he has fine possibilities, if they can be developed. He needs practice, however, as he is new to the game and is devoid of that smartness that a pitcher acquires after a few years of professional ball.

Huber of Beaumont, a third baseman who has been taken on by Philadelphia, may help to brace that position, which has not been well handled for the team for some time, and young Kimmick, who is coming back to the east from the coast, is a much better player than when he went to California, so that the Phils may get an infield out of their selections for the coming year that will play better ball than any infield that they have had since Fletcher became manager.

Fillingim, the old spitball pitcher, who was sent by Boston to the Texas league, has been called back by the Phillies because he worked so well last year. If he continues good, he may be able to drag down ten or twelve victories, which would go a long way toward compensating for the loss of Glazner.

Children Are Guests At Van Grove Salon

Children of the juvenile auxiliary of Glendale Music club had the pleasure Saturday afternoon of being guests again at the Van Grove music salon on North Brand boulevard. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Van Grove were hosts, entertaining the children with colorful dream pictures, with musical accompaniment on the Knabe Ampico. Marguerite Chappell, president of the auxiliary, directed a short business meeting. The children's piano program, presented later, included "The Mysterious Rider" and "Indian Dance," Ruth Becker; "White Bunny," Ethel Clayre Zimmercan; "Le Secret," Katherine Olin; "Pixies' Goodnight Song" and "Strolling Along," Burcham Lauderdale; "Do It Well" and "Maypole Dance," pianologues by Sarah Nutt. The final part of the program was "Second Suite" (Godowsky), "Anitta," "Sarabande," "Cradle Song" and "Bagatelle," played by Violet May Smith and her teacher, Wesley Kuhnle. Several mothers and teachers were present.

Joe Stecher, Former Mat Champ, on Tonight

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Joe Stecher, former world's champion wrestler, will be the main attraction tonight at another local revival of wrestling under the auspices of Jack Curley. He will meet Dick Lutze, former Notre Dame athlete, in a bout that is expected to start the ex-champion on the way to a championship meeting with Wayne (Big) Munn, the sensation of the hour since his defeat of "Strangler" Lewis.

SPORTDOM ALL OVER

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

Delaney's win over Flowers at Madison Square Garden last week before the wildest bunch of fans seen in Tex Rickard's arena for some time, puts Mr. Delaney pretty well in touch with that middleweight crown. Delaney made it unanimous over the colored boy by putting him to sleep somewhere within the second stanza. Flowers was no cinch for any middleweight. Delaney's mule-like kick in both hands turned the trick where other aspirants to middle crown would have found a proverbial stone wall. Kid Kaplan winning right to meet Leonard, Leonard's official retirement from the ring and Jack Dempsey's apparent willingness to retire, gives the boxing game a far different aspect at beginning of New Year.

Joseph L. Kelley

Leonard, by all rights of the game, should have retired long ago, irrespective of his mother's or anyone's wishes, or his own desires. Leonard hasn't been a lightweight for three years. He hasn't been able to weigh in anywhere near the 135 pounds set for that division. That was one of his big troubles with New York boxing commission. He couldn't meet the weight.

Leonard has made a fortune in the ring. He has saved it and invested well. He was one of the greatest lightweights the ring ever has known. He was a clean liver, clean fighter, and used his head as much as his fists.

Leonard is one of the few men ever to hold lightweight crown who made fighting a business as well as a sport. Young Corbett, probably one of the most popular lightweight kings ever to hold the crown, is virtually penniless today. Come easy, go easy, was Corbett's motto.

Battling Nelson, another great lightweight, is in Corbett's condition. And so it seems to go in every line of sport, as far as retired champions are concerned.

Tod Sloan, who made a fortune as America's premier jockey, is broke. Tod "follows the races," and when in New York spends much of his time at Dinty Moore's on West Forty-sixth street. He's now watching 'em run at Tia Juana.

Leach Cross, who came within an "ace" of winning the lightweight crown, is one of the best examples of a business fighter. Leach frankly admits he was fighting as a business, and proved it by investing in L. A. real estate

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Report is that Knute Rockne has been offered a lucrative contract to coach the University of Southern California. However this may be the writer has information that he turned down an offer from Princeton just before Roper was reappointed. Rockne has a ten year contract with Notre Dame but there is said to be a clause that either party can cancel the agreement.

If the Notre Dame coach, for reasons of his own, saw fit to decline to come to Princeton it is hardly likely he will transplant himself and his family to the other side of the continent. As a matter of fact, Rockne has ties of one sort or another that are qualified to bind him to Notre Dame, contract or no contract.

Speaking of Notre Dame, those who are close to the team say that while Stuhldreher fully merits the reputation he has received for football brains there is another member of the Four Horsemen group who is equally brilliant and if he goes into coaching bids fair to stand among the highest. The reference is to Elmer Layden.

No student at Notre Dame is better loved than Layden and there is no more versatile athlete. Besides being a great fullback he is a crack basketball player, a capable varsity baseball player and an excellent dash man.

Layden has received many offers to coach, mainly from eastern institutions, but there are excellent prospects that he will remain at South Bend for a year of post graduate study. In such case Rockne unquestionably will find a great deal of use for him as an assistant.

Bill Ingram turned down an offer of a larger salary from the Navy, his old alma mater, to remain with Indiana. Bill is said to have inherited a tidy legacy lately, and thus is in the happy position of a coach who does not have to get excited if one institution offers him a thousand or two dollars more than another institution.

The system of playing men of intercollegiate experience upon teams of the United States military academy and the absense of the one year rule evidently do not make the arrangement of a football schedule a simple task. The list of home games is not of a sort calculated to draw crowds to the new stadium at West Point.

The scholastic standing of the Dartmouth football squad averages distinctly better than that of the students of the college at large. This is not surprising. Modern football is a game rigid in its demands upon mental concentration and mental resourcefulness.

Wayne (big) Munn, who threw Strangler Lewis out of the ring, among other things, recently played football at the University of Nebraska and was a fine lineman. After graduation he went in for boxing but a few taps on the chin convinced him that his bulk could be used to better advantage in the mat game. And he was right.

RITOLA IS AFTER EXTRA LONG RACE

Challenges Nurmi to Step 10,000 Meters With Him; Expects to Win

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Barring the use of a first class horsewhip, the only possible way to give Paavo Nurmi a beating was uncovered today with the defi from Willie Ritola for a meeting at 10,000 meters, which happens to be Ritola's distance to the lineal fraction of an inch.

The latter, it seems, aired his views on the subject, following his notable effort in breaking the world's record for five miles on Saturday night and the immediate reaction of officials of the Finnish-American A. C., was to open immediate negotiations for the big race. It is almost certain to take place on a local track some time next month.

"I don't want to take anything away from Nurmi's wonderful performances since coming to this country," Ritola said in effect, "but I must point out that I have been given none the best of it in meeting him in comparatively short races. I knew I didn't have a chance when I went to the mark with him at 3,000 meters at the municipal games. The distance is far too short for me because I lack Nurmi's speed. Unless he is off form, which he never seems to be, I haven't much of a look-in with him at 5,000 meters, either. Double that distance, however, and I think I will be able to give Nurmi all the running he wants."

Trustee's Sale No. 3643
NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

WHEREAS, by a Deed of Trust, dated April 23, 1924, recorded May 29, 1924, in book 3770, page 219 of Official Records of Los Angeles County, California, to which record reference is hereby made, Emma A. Ferguson did grant and convey the property therein and hereinafter described to the TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY, as trustee, to secure, among other things, the payment of one certain promissory note, in favor of Clifford A. Cole and Bessie M. Cole, his wife as joint tenants, and other sums of money advanced and interest thereon; and

WHEREAS, said note has for valuable consideration been sold, assigned and duly endorsed and is now owned and held by E. R. Hubbard and Sue L. Hubbard, his wife; and

WHEREAS, there has been a default in the payment of the monthly installment of principal and interest due and payable on said note August 1, 1924, and all subsequent monthly installments of principal and interest, and by reason of such defaults, said E. R. Hubbard and Sue L. Hubbard, his wife, the owners and holders of said note and trust deed, in accordance with the provisions thereof, on to-wit, September 29, 1924, exercised their option and declared the full amount of the indebtedness secured by said trust deed immediately due and payable, there being the total sum of $2549.25 now due and unpaid; and

WHEREAS, in accordance with the provisions of Section 2924 of the Civil Code of California, said E. R. Hubbard and Sue L. Hubbard, the owners and holders of said note and trust deed, on October 1st, 1924, caused to be recorded in the office of the County Recorder of said Los Angeles County a notice of such default in the payment of principal and interest, and of their election to cause the property described in said trust deed to be sold, in accordance with the provisions thereof, to satisfy said obligation, which notice of default and election to sell was duly recorded in Book 4156, Page 222 of Official Records of said Los Angeles County; and

WHEREAS, said Trust Deed provides that, if there is default in the payment of any of the sums secured thereby, upon application of the holder of said note, the trustee shall give notice and sell so much of the property as shall be necessary to satisfy the indebtedness secured thereby.

WHEREAS, said E. R. Hubbard and Sue L. Hubbard, by reason of the default in payments as stated, has requested the TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY to give notice and to sell said property, or so much thereof as shall be necessary to sell, to pay all the indebtedness secured and expenses incurred necessary to the execution of said trust.

NOW THEREFORE, notice is hereby given that the TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY by virtue of the authority vested in it as Trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash in gold coin, on the 31st day of January, 1925, at the hour of 11 o'clock A. M., of said day, at the western front entrance of the Court House in the City of and County of Los Angeles, State of California, all the interest conveyed to it by said Trust Deed, in and to all the following described property, to-wit:

Lot Fifty-one (51) of Tract No. 4765, in the City of Glendale, County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in Book 51, Page 44 of Maps, in the office of the County Recorder of said County.

Subject to encumbrance of record, or so much thereof as shall be necessary to pay the total amount of the principal, interest, advances, charges, and costs, including compensation to the trustee.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY, has duly authorized this notice, by the signature of its Vice-President, attested by its Secretary, who has affixed the Corporate Seal, at Los Angeles, California, this 2nd day of January, 1925.
(Corporate Seal)

ORDINANCE NO. 1033

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE GRANTING TO GLENDALE AND MONTROSE RAILWAY THE RIGHT AND FRANCHISE FOR A PERIOD OF TWENTY-FIVE (25) YEARS TO CONSTRUCT, OPERATE AND MAINTAIN A SINGLE TRACK ELECTRIC STREET RAILWAY, TOGETHER WITH THE RIGHT TO CONSTRUCT THE NECESSARY CURVES, TURN-OUTS, SWITCHES, SPUR TRACKS, POLES AND EQUIPMENT, FOR THE PURPOSE OF TRANSPORTING PASSENGERS, BAGGAGE, UNITED STATES MAIL, FREIGHT, EXPRESS MATTER, AND SUCH OTHER COMMODITIES AS CAN BE CONVENIENTLY HANDLED BY AN ELECTRIC RAILWAY OVER AND ALONG CERTAIN STREETS IN THE CITY OF GLENDALE.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE:

SECTION 1: There is hereby granted unto Glendale and Montrose Railway its successors and assigns, the right and franchise for a period of twenty-five (25) years to construct, operate and maintain a single track electric street railway, together with the right to construct the necessary curves, turnouts, switches, spur tracks, poles and equipment for the purpose of transporting passengers, baggage, United States mail, freight, express matter, and such other commodities as can be conveniently handled by an electric railway over and along a line six and one-half (6½) feet easterly from and parallel to the center line of that certain tract of land described as follows:

A strip of land thirty feet wide, being that portion of the Teodoro Verdugo and Catalina Verdugo 2629.01 acre allotment in the portion of the Rancho San Rafael, as per District Court Case No. 1621, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, bounded as follows:

Beginning at a point S 87° 57' E 30.06 feet along the easterly prolongation of the southerly line of Lot 1, Block 38, of Selvas de Verdugo, Sheets 11 and 12, as shown on Map recorded in Book 54, pages 88 and 89 of Maps, Records of said County, from the southeast corner of said Lot 1, Block 38; thence N. 1° 24' W 752.10 feet along a line which is parallel with and thirty feet easterly from the easterly lines of Blocks 38, 37 and 36, of said Selvas de Verdugo to the beginning of a curve, concave to the east, and having a radius of 521.50 feet; thence northerly along said curve, which is tangent to the last mentioned course, a distance of 218.14 feet to the end of said curve; thence N. 22° 24' E. tangent to said curve, a distance of 703.69 feet to the beginning of a curve, concave to the west, and having a radius of 588.80 feet; thence northerly along said last mentioned curve, which is tangent to the last mentioned course, a distance of 135.64 feet, to a point of compound curve, a radial line at said last mentioned point bearing N. 80° 32' 56" W; thence northerly along a curve, concave to the west, having a radius of 585.00 feet, and tangent to the last described curve, a distance of 29.96 feet to a point, a radial line from said last mentioned point bearing N. 83° 29' 00" W; thence N. 89° 04' E 30.24 feet to a point on a curve concave to the west, having a radius of 615.00 feet, the bearing of a radial line to said last mentioned curve, at said last mentioned point, being N. 83° 50' 54" W; thence southerly along said last mentioned curve, a distance of 35.42 feet to a point of compound curve, a radial line at said last mentioned point bearing N 80° 32' 56" W; thence southerly along a curve, concave to the west, having a radius of 618.80 feet, and tangent to the last described curve, a distance of 141.66 feet to the end of said last mentioned curve; thence S 22° 24' W. tangent to said last mentioned curve, a distance of 703.69 feet to the beginning of a curve, concave to the east, and having a radius of 491.59 feet; thence southerly along said last mentioned curve which is tangent to the last mentioned course, a distance of 205.59 feet to the end of said last mentioned curve, and being a point in a line which is parallel with and thirty feet westerly from the westerly lines of Blocks 34, 33 and 32 of the aforesaid Selvas de Verdugo; thence S 1° 24' E along said last mentioned parallel line, which is tangent to the last described curve, a distance of 753.90 feet to the westerly prolongation of the southerly line of said Block 32; thence N. 87° 57' W 30.06 feet to the point of beginning; provided that no spur track into private property shall be built within one thousand (1000) feet of any spur track already constructed under said franchise without first securing the proper consent of the Council of the City of Glendale.

SECTION 2: The terms and conditions under which said franchise is granted are as follows:

That the railway to be constructed and operated under said franchise shall be used for the transportation of passengers, baggage, United States mail, freight, express matter, and such other commodities as can be conveniently handled by an electric railway; provided that cars other than closed ones, of a neat and attractive design, shall not be conveyed over said road between the hours of nine o'clock P. M. of each day and six o'clock A. M. of the following day; except hauling such material as is used in the construction and reconstruction of such railways.

That said grantee of said franchise and its assigns, shall use good material in the construction of said road, and said road shall be built in a good and workmanlike manner, and that said grantee and its assigns shall, at its or their own cost and expense, oil and re-oil, pave or macadamize, the said road between the rails, between the tracks, and for two (2) feet on each side thereof, with the same material used by the City, and under the same specifications and in the same manner as upon the streets over which said roads are respectively, and shall keep the same constantly so paved or macadamized and in repair flush with said streets, and provided with suitable crossings, and shall make the roadbed conform at all times to the established grade of said streets; provided, however, that where any of the above named streets have been graded or otherwise improved prior to the granting of said franchise, said roadbed and rails shall conform to and be flush with the surface of said graded or otherwise improved street or streets, whether such surface be above or below the official grade of said street or streets, and on all other street or streets the said roadbed and rails shall conform to such official grade as aforesaid.

In case the said grantee and its assigns shall fail to comply with the instructions given for said repairs for ten days after service of notice thereof upon the superintendent or manager of said grantee, then the City Council of the City of Glendale may, with suitable assistance, enter upon said railway, or any portion thereof, and do the work and furnish the proper material, and keep an itemized account of the cost thereof, which said grantee and its assigns by the acceptance of this franchise agrees to pay immediately to the Treasurer of the City of Glendale upon the presentation of the account to the superintendent or manager of said railway.

Provided further, that cars shall be run over the road constructed under said franchise every day unless prevented by the elements, riots, strikes or unavoidable causes; provided, also, that cars shall be run over and upon said road at intervals of not more than one (1) hour from seven o'clock A. M. until ten (10) o'clock P. M. of each day, and as much oftener as may be necessary to properly accommodate all persons who apply for transportation over said road, except in times of extraordinary and unforeseen amounts of travel; and provided that the City Council may authorize a less number of trips if the amount of travel does not warrant the above number of trips; and provided further, that said grantee and its assigns shall have the right to excavate and remove portions of said streets necessary to properly construct said road, and to erect needful apparatus, boilers, engines and other appliances to properly equip and run said road; provided further, that the City of Glendale in granting said franchise expressly reserves the right to pave, macadamize, renew or sewer any of said streets, or to lay gas, water or other pipes therein, said work to be done so as to injure said road as little as possible.

It is further provided that said grantee and its assigns shall construct all necessary flumes and culverts for the free passage of water under the tracks of said railway whenever and wherever necessary, and that all of such flumes and culverts shall be constructed in accordance with the plans and specifications approved by the City Engineer and wherever required by said City of Glendale.

That the said grantee and its assigns shall and will, at all times upon and after the completion of said road, during the operation of the same, and without extra charge, issue and receive from passengers going in one direction, transfers good for one continuous passage over and upon any and every other line and lines or any other road or roads to any points within the said City, which said grantee and its assigns does now or may hereafter own, control, operate or have a controlling interest in; and provided, as a further condition, that said grantee and its assigns shall and will at all times as aforesaid issue or cause to be issued to said passengers without extra charge, a similar transfer from any and every line or lines which said grantee and its assigns does now or may hereafter own, control, operate or have a controlling interest in, within said City of Glendale, as aforesaid, to, over and upon the road operated and maintained under said franchise within the city limits of the City of Glendale; and provided further, that such transfer shall be given and received as above provided over and upon all such roads within the city limits of the City of Glendale, whether operated under a franchise granted by said City or over and upon private right of ways owned or occupied by said roads within the city limits of the City of Glendale.

That the rates of fare to be charged by the grantee shall not exceed the rates fixed by the Body, Board or Commission having authority to fix such rates.

The said grantee and its assigns shall carry free on said cars the Chief of Police and all regular police officers and firemen of said City, when on duty, and letter carriers, subject at all times to the rules of the road.

That the said grantee and its assigns shall, during the life of the said franchise, pay to the City of Glendale in lawful money of the United States, two per cent of the gross annual receipts of said grantee and its assigns, arising from the use, operation or possession of said franchise. No percentage shall be paid for the first five years succeeding the date of the franchise, but thereafter such percentage shall be payable annually, and said franchise is to be forfeited by a failure to make the payments provided for, and it shall be the duty of the said grantee and said franchise and its assigns to file with the City Clerk of the City of Glendale at the expiration of six years from the date of granting said franchise, and at the expiration of each and every year thereafter, a statement verified by the oath of the said grantee, or its assigns, or by the oath of the manager or presiding officer of said grantee or its assigns, showing the total gross receipts and gross earnings collected or received by the said grantee or its assigns during the preceding twelve months, and within ten days after the time for filing such statement, and it shall be the duty of said grantee or its assigns to pay to the City Treasurer of said City of Glendale the aggregate sum of said percentage upon the gross annual receipts arising from the use, operation or possession of said franchise.

That all poles used in the construction and operation of said electric road shall be placed within the curb line of the streets designated as officially established by the City Council of the City of Glendale, and the outer edge of the poles shall in all cases be set as near the inner edge of the curb as practicable, when not otherwise directed by said City Council, and the wires suspended from said poles shall not at any point be less than twenty-two (22) feet above the top of the rail. All poles shall be of tubular steel or of suitable wood, of a size and kind such as are ordinarily used for similar purposes in the State of California, and shall at all times be kept free from rust and painted in a uniform color; that wherever said railway is double tracked, then the tracks shall be placed thirteen (13) feet from the center line to center line, and in case of a single track shall be located along a line six and one-half (6½) feet easterly from and parallel to the center line of the above described strip of land.

That any neglect, failure or refusal to comply with any of the conditions of said franchise, after thirty days' notice given by the City Council of the City of Glendale, shall thereupon immediately ipso facto effect a forfeiture thereof, and the said City, by its City Council, may thereupon declare said franchise forfeited, and may exclude said grantee or its assigns from further use of the streets of said City under said franchise, and said grantee or its assigns shall thereupon and immediately surrender all rights in and to the same, and the said franchise shall be deemed and shall remain null, void and of no effect.

Said franchise is granted upon the terms and conditions herein contained and said grantee shall file with the City Clerk of the City of Glendale a written acceptance within thirty (30) days after passage of this ordinance granting same.

The grant of said franchise shall be effective only upon the further condition that the grantee shall, at all times during the life of said franchise, keep on file with the City Council a bond running to said City of Glendale in the penal sum of One Thousand Dollars ($1000.00) with sureties to be approved by said City Council, conditioned upon said grantee well and truly observing, fulfilling and performing each and every term and condition of said franchise, and that in case of any breach of condition of said bond the whole amount of the penal sum therein named shall be taken and deemed to be liquidated damages and shall be recoverable from the principal and sureties on said bond; provided, however, that if said bond shall not be so filed, the award of said franchise shall be set aside and the money paid therefor shall be forfeited, and said franchise shall be, in the discretion of the City Council, re-advertised and again offered for sale in the same manner and under the same restrictions as herein provided. If said bond be not so filed and kept on file, said franchise shall be void and of no effect, and any money paid therefor or thereunder shall be forfeited.

Said franchise is granted on the condition that all expenses of sale and of advertising said franchise shall be paid by the said grantee and unless so paid said grantee shall be forfeited.

SECTION 3: The City Clerk of the City of Glendale shall certify to the passage of this ordinance and cause the same to be published once in The Glendale Evening News, the official newspaper of the City of Glendale, and thirty (30) days after its final passage it shall take effect and be in full force.

THE FOREGOING ORDINANCE IS SIGNED BY ME this 15th day of January, 1925.

DO YOU KNOW THAT

60 PER CENT
OF BUILDING PERMITS ARE TAKEN OUT IN THE NORTHWEST SECTION?

Right on Glen Oaks Blvd., (formerly Fourth St.,) and Allen, right on car line, close to school and within stone's throw of big 4-store building with 4 apartments overhead. Here you have two houses on one lot. Dandy modern little house in rear renting for $25 unfurnished, and 4-room modern house in front.

You can make money on these 2 houses, as they will more than pay for themselves, $6500, $3250 cash, balance $45 per month including interest.

Why wait for a vacant lot to increase in value, when here you have property that is paying for itself, and is ever increasing in value. A look into the future will see P. E. tracks lowered and 40-ft. boulevard from Burbank to Pasadena, which will surely make this property business.

LOOK IT OVER—Buy direct from owner.

GRAPE MEN TO FIGHT

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 19.—San Bernardino county representatives of grape growers, together with other Southern California representatives, have announced that the proposal of Kern and Fresno county growers to increase the sugar content requirements in California will be bitterly fought. Charges are being made by growers here that the proposal of the northern growers is in reality designed to destroy one of the most important industries in Southern California. Table grapes are grown in the Imperial valley for the early market in the east and is an exceedingly profitable industry.

PLAN NEW HIGHWAY

SANTA ANA, Jan. 19.—Preliminary maps for the proposed highway paralleling the Pacific Electric tracks from Santa Ana to Watts are in the hands of Alfred Hanson of Hanson station, appointed at a recent meeting of interested parties to arrange a series of community meetings for discussion of the project.

BLAME DEFECTIVE WIRING

SANTA ANA, Jan. 19.—Unsupervised wiring of residences in the unincorporated districts of Orange county was responsible for the greater portion of the $16,824.77 fire losses sustained in 1924 by the Orange County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co., according to a report issued by C. W. McNaught, secretary. He has recommended that the board of supervisors be asked to adopt a county ordinance requiring proper inspection and supervision of all electrical work, including appliances and radio.

KIND HEARTED BURGLAR

ANAHEIM, Jan. 19.—Kind-hearted burglars obeyed the legend, "Please contribute to the poor and needy" which was written on a box on the rear porch of the home of Secretary Reid of the Chamber of Commerce. The thieves visited the home while Mr. and Mrs. Reid were in Inglewood, and left a dime in the poor box. They ransacked the home, throwing clothing on the floor, but a check revealed that nothing was stolen except some cooked potatoes and a small piece of butter. Reid has invited the burglars to call again and make another contribution to the needy.

BEACH IS LITTERED

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 19.—Heavy ground swells have been washing up unusual things on the beach of late and low tide finds a crowd every day to see what they can find. No two days offer the same "catch." An unusual feature was a lot of plants of that variety of seawood that looks like red coral. Another day barnacles had the right of way. Bones and parts of skeletons, a small skull that might have belonged to a monkey, a spinal column about two and a half feet long, a jaw, all washed, scrubbed and polished by the waves into a white beauty that saved them from being gruesome.

Council Minutes

Minutes of the Glendale City Council, prepared by city clerk

Following are the minutes of the Glendale City Council in session Thursday, January 15:

Council assembled at 10 a. m. All members present. Mniutes of January 8 read and approved.

In accordance with call, bids were publicly opened, examined and declared for furnishing tennis court fence to the city of Glendale from the following bidders: J. E. Dwan, Inc., Standard Fence Co. Moved by Councilman Davis, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, duly carried, that bids be referred to city engineer for checking and report.

Cast Iron Pipe

In accordance with call, bids were publicly opened, examined and declared for furnishing cast iron pipe to the city of Glendale. from the following bidders: U. S. Cast Iron Pipe Co., American Cast Iron Pipe Co., National Cast Iron Pipe Co., Pacific Pipe & Supply Co., McWane Cast Iron Pipe Co., Keystone Iron & Steel Works, Pacific Cast Iron Pipe & Foundry Co.

Moved by Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Davis, duly carried, that bids be referred to superintendent of plant and production for checking and report.

Councilman Kimlin introduced a resolution entitled, "A resolution adopting map of tract No. 7079 and accepting on behalf of the public the avenues, streets, alleys, and public places shown thereon," which was read, and on his motion seconded by Councilman Davis, the same was numbered resolution No. 2716 and adopted.

Commercial District

Moved by Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Davis, duly carried, that hearing to set aside as commercial district, property at Adams street and Elk avenue, be continued until January 22 at 10 a. m.

Moved by Councilman MacBain, seconded by Councilman Davis, duly carried, that hearing to set aside as commercial district, property at California avenue and Sycamore Canon road, be continued until Thursday, January 22 at 10 a. m.

The clerk notified the council that this was the time, hour and place fixed for hearing protests or objections to the work, assessment, diagram or any act, determination or proceeding of the street superintendent or city engineer for the improvement of Ard Eevin avenue, Idlewood road and other streets, as more particularly described in resolution of intention No. 2480, passed by the council of the city of Glendale on July 3, 1924, and the clerk also reported to the council that he had not received any written protests or objections up to the time set for hearing. Whereupon the mayor asked if there were any interested persons present who desired to be heard, and all interested persons having been given full opportunity to show cause why the proposed assessment should not be carried out in accordance with the diagram exhibiting the district to be assessed to pay the costs of said improvement, and all objections having been heard and considered, on motion of Councilman Gilhuly, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, all protests were denied.

On motion of Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Gilhuly, assessment roll for the improvement of Ard Eevin avenue, Idlewood road, and other streets, as prepared by the street superintendent, was confirmed.

Issuance of Bonds

The clerk informed the council that this was the time, hour and place where all persons interested might appear and state their objections, if any, against any action of the council of the city of Glendale to determine the aggregate amount of unpaid assessments for the improvement of Broadway, Wilson avenue and Harvey drive in said city, and providing for the issuance of bonds therefor, and prescribing their denomination, as more particularly described in resolution of intention No. 2336, passed by the said council on March 27, 1924, and the clerk also reported to the council that he had not received any written protests or objections up to the time set for the hearing. Whereupon the mayor asked if there were any interested persons present who desired to be heard, and all interested persons having been given full opportunity to show cause why said bonds should not be issued in accordance with the determination of the council, and all objections having been heard and considered, on motion of Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman MacBain, duly carried, all protests were denied. Whereupon Councilman Gilhuly introduced a resolution entitled, "A resolution of the council of the city of Glendale, California, relating to the issuance of street improvement bonds pursuant to resolution of intention No. 2336, determining the amount of unpaid assessments, prescribing the denomination of such bonds, and providing for their issuance," which was read, and on his motion seconded by Councilman MacBain, the same was numbered resolution 2717 and adopted.

Vacate Barbara Drive

Petition signed by property owners, asking that a portion of Barbara drive, lying between the northerly extension of the easterly line of Lot 14, Block 10, Selvas de Verdugo and Opechee way, be vacated, was read. Moved by Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Gilhuly, that petition be referred to city attorney.

Petition signed by property owners, asking that those portions of Lots 3 and 4 tract 3727, not now included in commercial district, be set aside as such, was read. Moved by Councilman Davis, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, duly carried, that city clerk be instructed to set the necessary date of hearing before the Planning commission January 26 and before the council January 29.

Moved by Councilman Gilhuly, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, that J. W. Vander Weyden be granted a permit to conduct public dances at the I. O. O. F. hall on Wednesday and Saturday nights.

Ban Tent Shows

Application to conduct a tent show at the southeast corner of Broadway and Everett street for a period of six months, signed by C. C. Pitts, was read. Moved by Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman MacBain, that application be denied.

Application for permit to operate a tent theater at the northwest corner of Sycamore Canyon road and Broadway for a period of six months or longer, signed by Geo. S. Swing and J. B. Brown, was read. Moved by Councilman Gilhuly, seconded by Councilman MacBain, that application be denied.

Petition issued by property owners, asking that Lexington drive between Glendale avenue and Verdugo road be declared a boulevard and prohibiting heavy traffic, was read. Same having been referred to the city engineer for checking was returned showing 66.98 per cent. Moved by Councilman Gilhuly, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, duly carried, that city attorney be instructed to draft the necessary amendment.

Moved by Councilman Davis, seconded by Councilman MacBain, that a property line set back be established on Lot 21, Block "F," tract 5138, for the purpose of erecting thereon a private garage

Private Street Work

Moved by Councilman Davis, seconded by Councilman MacBain, that Bates and Borland be granted permit to improve by private contract the following streets in Bellehurst Park tract: Cavanagh road, Jackson Court road, Howard Court road, Bohlig road, Hillcroft road and Harrington road, with oil and screening surface on decomposed granite base or otherwise, subject to the approval and supervision of the city engineer.

Moved by Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Gilhuly, duly carried, that city engineer and city attorney be instructed to draft the necessary proceedings for the opening and laying out of Cumberland road, between Highland avenue and Virginia avenue.

Moved by Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman MacBain, city engineer be instructed to construct a corrugated iron pipe culvert in the south parkway of Glendale boulevard just east of the Southern Pacific Railroad Co.'s right-of-way, crossing Brand boulevard, in accordance with the suggestion of the Southern Pacific Co.

Moved by Councilman MacBain, seconded by Councilman Davis, that the matter of extending public utility service on proposed private drive, Glendale avenue east, between Lomita avenue and Maple street, be referred to committee of the whole.

Improve Cypress Street

Moved by Councilman Gilhuly, seconded by Councilman MacBain, that city engineer be instructed to include in the proceedings for the improvement of Cypress street, sewer pipe to Glendale avenue, proceedings to otherwise conform with petitioners' request.

Moved by Councilman Gilhuly, seconded by Councilman MacBain, that city engineer be instructed to establish a grade on Verdugo road from Glendale avenue intersection to north city limits.

Moved by Councilman Gilhuly, seconded by Councilman MacBain, that city attorney be instructed to draft a resolution to be submitted to the legislature, requesting that all bills should be introduced during first period and to have same printed as speedily as possible and sent to interested citizens without delay, thus enabling the people to study the same during recess.

Moved by Councilman Davis, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, duly carried, that city attorney be instructed to draft an ordinance amending ordinance No. 654, by changing section 3 to read "between the hours of 7 a. m. and 10 o'clock p. m." and Section 4 to read "to accumulate or remain within the city of Glendale."

American Legion

Communication from the American Legion, thanking the council for their loyal and generous support in equipping the Drum and Bugle corps, was read and ordered filed.

Communication from Lions club, containing a resolution adopted by that body, favoring Burbank site for southern branch, University of California, was read and ordered filed.

Moved by Councilman Gilhuly, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, that the controller be instructed to draw a demand on the treasurer for $100 in favor of C. N. Burke, manager of Elks' band, for services rendered during the Rose Tournament parade at Pasadena.

Transfer of Funds

Moved by Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Gilhuly, that the sum of $200 be transferred from the unappropriated reserve for the purpose of maintaining safety zone signs for school crossings.

Moved by Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman MacBain, that the sum of $600 be transfered from the salary appropriation, division of general inspection of the general budget, to the salary appropriation, division of health officer.

Moved by Councilman Gilhuly, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, that the sum of $697.29 be transferred from the unappropriated reserve to the supply and expense appropriation, division of street department, to cover expense of moving oil tanks and street shed.

Moved by Councilman MacBain, seconded by Councilman Gilhuly, that the following transfer of appropriations be made in the library budget: $235 from the book appropriation, main library, to the building appropriation, north branch; $80 from the book appropriation, main library, to the contingent fund, north branch; $100 from the other maintenance appropriation, south branch, to the furniture appropriation, south branch.

Ordinances Adopted

The ordinance entitled, "An ordinance of the city of Glendale granting to Glendale & Montrose Railway Co. the right and franchise for a period of twenty-five years to construct, operate and maintain a single-track electric street railway, together with the right to construct the necessary curves, turn-outs, switches, spur tracks, poles and equipment, for the purpose of transporting baggage, United States mail, freight, express matter, and such other commodities as can be conveniently handled by an electric railway over and along certain streets in the city of Glendale," which was introduced January 3, 1925, was read and, on motion of Councilman Gilhuly, seconded by Councilman Davis, said ordinance was adopted and numbered Ordinance No. 1033.

Councilman Gilhuly introduced an ordinance entitled, "An ordinance of the city of Glendale ordering the widening of San Fernando road in said city," which was read and laid on the table.

Resolutions Adopted

Councilman Kimlin introduced a resolution entitled, "A resolution of the council of the city of Glendale ordering the city engineer of said city to prepare a diagram of the improvement and of the property within the assessment district for the laying out and opening of Doran street in said city," which was read and, on his motion, seconded by Councilman Gilhuly, the same was numbered Resolution No. 2718 and adopted.

City engineer reported the bid of Osborn Electric Co. as the lowest responsible bidder for the improvement of Harvey drive and other streets with lights. Councilman Kimlin introduced a resolution entitled, "A resolution of the council of the city of Glendale awarding the contract for the improvement of portions of Harvey drive, Hill drive, Summit drive, Brodrick avenue, Vallejo drive, Webb drive, Wilson avenue and a certain right-of-way owned by the city of Glendale within said city," which was read and, on his motion, seconded by Councilman Davis, the same was numbered Resolution No. 2719 and adopted.

Moved by Councilman Davis, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, duly carried, that the meeting be adjourned.

Dr. Gerhard Kaemmerling, city health officer, was speaker Friday before the Acacia Parent-Teacher association, meeting at the school. He spoke particularly of the care in contagious diseases, pointing out the loss of time and money for children and adults when proper care was not exercised. He urged parents to be cautious in caring for their children, and in reporting all cases of contagion. The Parent-Teacher association is completing plans for publishing a cook book. The book will be ready for sale in two weeks. Two teams, under Mrs. Fred Hartman and Mrs. W. B. Alexander, will participate in a thirty-day contest. The winners will be honored at a luncheon by the losers. Mrs. W. B. Alexander, publicity chairman of the association, was happily surprised yesterday, when she was presented with a birthday cake, the day being her birthday.

Glendale Parent-Teacher association members are going to strive to have the largest delegation present Thursday at the First District conference at the Alhambra High school. Glendale won honors at the conference in Whittier by having the most representatives present and efforts will be made Thursday to sustain this record. All members of the P.-T. A. may attend the conference. The gathering will open at 10 o'clock in the morning and continue until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Among the honored guests will be Mrs. Hugh Bradford, state president, Mrs. Meers, first vice-president and one of the founders of the national organization. Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., of Glendale, state chairman of child labor and legislation, will be among the state leaders present. The morning session will open with a presidents' council, followed by a parliamentary drill conducted by Mrs. A. H. Brown of Glendale, district parliamentarian. Mrs. John Robert White will also take part in the morning program, speaking on legislative matters. C. H. Peterson, principal of a Mexican school in Pasadena, will be one of the main speakers. Other speakers will be the state music chairman; Grace Fry, chairman of better films for the Los Angeles district, California Federation of Women's clubs; Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson of Glendale, district chairman of Founders' day; Mrs. Bradford and Meers. Noon luncheon will be served in the school cafeteria. Reservations for luncheon can be made until Wednesday with Mrs. G. H. Rollins, 309 South Cordova street, Alhambra, whose telephone number is Alhambra 853-R.

Entertained by the Girls' league, members of Glendale high school Parent-Teacher association will be guests Wednesday at Broadway High school. Mothers have been invited to attend morning sessions and have luncheon in the teachers' cafeteria. At 12:15 o'clock they will attend a student body meeting and later be conducted through the building. Mrs. W. R. Wichert, P.-T. A. president, will preside over an association meeting at 2:30 o'clock. The speaker of the afternoon will be Miss Helen Goodspeed, university extension speaker on home economics. Musical and dramatic numbers will complete the program. Tea will be served from 4 to 4:30 o'clock in the home economics department by the Girls' league.

Rev. Clifford A. Cole, pastor of Central Christian church, is to speak tomorrow afternoon at the meeting of Grand View Parent-Teacher association. The meeting will be at 3 o'clock, after a board meeting at 2 o'clock. In addition to Mr. Cole's talk, there will be vocal numbers by Mrs. E. B. Moore, and recitation by Jeanne Fitch, "Child's Lament," written by Mrs. L. D. Torrey of Glendale.

LOS ANGELES

By Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—At best it is a heart-rending task to break into the movies, but when complications with an alleged theft to pay expenses are brought up it is impossible, according to Mabel Moore of Virginia. Miss Moore was held in the city jail here today, awaiting the arrival of Baltimore officers to return her to the eastern city, where she was accused of selling two diamond rings said to have been purchased on credit. The money was used by the girl to come to Los Angeles in search of film work, it was claimed.

A nation-wide search for Miss Margaret Lydia Boyd, 34, a Canadian, who mysteriously dropped from sight at Redondo Beach near here on November 16, 1923, was believed by Sheriff Traeger to have been cleared up today when he received a message from Sheriff Hewitt of San Angelo, Texas, asking if the woman was still wanted, as he believed he knew where she may be found. Sheriff Traeger immediately wired back details concerning the woman's disappearance, with instructions "to find her." A reward of $250 was offered for news of her whereabouts.

Robert M. Clark, president of the Los Angeles Bar association, will be formally placed in the field as a candidate for mayor this week, according to plans of his friends.

The United States has never been nor will it ever be militaristic, declared Lieut.-Col. Perry W. Weidner, now president of the Los Angeles sector, Association of the Army of the United States, at his installation last night at the City club.

Frederick Gehm of Florence, who is alleged to have fired several shots at W. F. McConnell, after an argument concerning Gehms' dog, has been ordered to the Norwalk state hospital for treatment by Superior Judge Hahn.

The Federation of State Societies at their weekly luncheon yesterday pledged support to a drive to raise funds for the completion of a new theater at San Gabriel Mission, in which to house the Mission Play in forthcoming years. The appeal was made to the federation by James H. Shaw, executive secretary of the Society of the Golden Scroll, which has been bequeathed the Mission Play by John Steven McGroarty, its author.

A movement for the consolidation and incorporation of Huntington Park, Walnut Park, Maywood, South Gate, Bell, Magnolia Park, Home Gardens, Lynwood, Wawona Park and Tweedy Estates has been started, it was announced by Samuel M. Dudlext, president of the Long Beach Boulevard Improvement association.

Blazing Shed Calls Out Fire Department

A blazing shed in the rear of the house occupied by K. Takahashi at 810 East Chestnut street brought apparatus from Station 1 of the Glendale fire department to the scene at 7:45 o'clock this morning. The blaze was extinguished at a damage of approximately $100, reports Chief A. H. Lankford, in charge.

Fire in the garage in the rear of the home of C. C. Frazier, 527 North Chester street, did $300 damage Saturday night, reports Chief Lankford. The alarm came in at 9:10 o'clock and the fire was out in ten minutes. A car in the garage was slightly damaged.

Pythians to Be Hosts To Visiting Members

The meeting of Glendale lodge, No. 331, Knights of Pythias, which will be held tomorrow night at the lodge hall, South Brand boulevard and Park avenue, will be of unusual interest to all Pythians. The local lodge will be hosts to District No. 30, comprising twenty-nine lodges of the order in and adjacent to Los Angeles. This is also the regular visitation night of the ollywood, Van Nuys and Burbank lodges, and an unusually large attendance is expected. A varied program, with speakers, has been announced, and a banquet will also be held.

TO OCCUPY NEW HOUSE

A new six-room stucco house, now under construction at 3429 Laclede avenue, Atwater, will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd C. Charles when completed. Mr. and Mrs. Charles now reside at 3521 Perlita avenue.

R. H. Miller of Westwood was reported seriously injured, following a collision between his car and a car driven by C. M. Cummings of 1213 Mariposa street. The accident occurred Sunday, at Wilshire boulevard and Doheny drive, Los Angeles.

LIGHTHOUSE DOOMED

Henlopen Lighthouse, which has guided mariners of the Atlantic Ocean at Delaware Bay since 1764, faces momentary destruction because the ocean is so rapidly tearing away the land upon which it is built. When originally constructed it was 1,400 feet back from the water, but today it is scarcely 10 feet from the water's edge. It is the second oldest beacon in America.
